To extend 3-year contract

District, REA sign letter of understanding

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

Added assurance that a teacher's strike will not take place in Romulus Community Schools, at least for the immediate present, came last week in a "letter of understanding" which members of the Romulus Education Association (REA) have agreed to sign.

The letter will authorize the continuation of the present three-year teachers contract on a day-to-day basis after it expires Aug. 31, 1979, according to Terrel M. LeCesne, personnel relations manager and chief negotiator for the school system.

"Either side can end the continuation with a 48-hour notice," he explained.

Confirmation of the letter of understanding and its signing by 329 REA teacher members was made Friday by Terrel Bird, REA president, who is a vocational education building trades instructor at Romulus High School.

Commenting on the letter, LeCesne said, "With this agreement, there is reasonable assurance that we will have an uninterrupted start of the coming school year."

The fact that the REA bargaining team has approved its members to work on without a contract indicates that talks are progressing well at the bargaining table, he added.

Announcing that two more bargaining sessions are scheduled this week, LeCesne said the Romulus school board "will make a financial offer" at that time.

Making negotiations a little more sticky this year for the Romulus school district is its inclusion in the newly-formed 14-member Wayne county Michigan Education Association (WCMEA). Talks could take longer to resolve for individual member districts because some contract issues will be held out for jointly.

Bird, who declared that wage talks "have a long way to go", admitted that several items will be bargained for by the WCMEA for all of its 14 members.

He said these would include: economics — the basic fringe benefits and salaries and insurance, teacher protection in times of layoffs, and class size.

Explaining that county-wide, some school districts are laying off due to declining enrollments and others are adding on for the opposite reason, Bird said the WCMEA would like to see laid off teachers hired by school districts needing additional help.

"This would make more sense than hiring beginning teachers coming out of college. When that happens, tax money has to go toward paying unemployment insurance for laid off teachers and also for training the new teachers just starting out," he said.

He said teacher contracts now follow the pattern set down by the automotive industry, but said school pacts are "one, two or three years behind".

LeCesne said the administration has agreed on a school calendar for the coming school year. Included in the schedule are Wednesday, Sept. 5, as the first day of school.

"Sept. 5 will be a half-day session for all students in grades 1-12," LeCesne said. "However, regular morning and afternoon classes will be held for kindergarten pupils."

Beginning Thursday, Sept. 6, regular full-day classes will begin for all students, he added.

Huron Schools answer questions about millage

This is the second of a series of questions and answers about the Sept. 10 school millage vote in Huron Township.

Anyone having questions about the 3.5 mill increase the Huron School District is seeking should contact Supt. Curtis D. Bartz at 782-2441. Huron Board of Education members are also available to answer questions.

QUESTION:

What is "operational millage?" How is it used?

ANSWER:

Operational millage is the money that pays for the daily running of the schools. Such items as books, heat, lights, supplies, and salaries are paid for by "operational millage." By law, operational millage cannot be used for constructing new buildings.

QUESTION:

The valuation on my home has gone up. What have the schools done with the extra money they've received?

ANSWER:

School districts which qualify for state membership aid do not receive more money from increased valuations. For each additional dollar received from local taxpayers because of increased assessments, those districts lose a dollar in state aid, under the formula used during the past few years.

QUESTION:

Who can vote in the school election?

ANSWER:

All registered voters.

QUESTION:

When are the polling places open?

ANSWER:

Polling places will be open from 7 a.m. through 8 p.m.

QUESTION:

If I know I'm going to be out of town on Sept. 10, can I vote by absentee ballot?

ANSWER:

Yes, absentee ballots are available from your local school district. Stop at the superintendent's office or call the school for further information about getting your absentee ballot.

QUESTION:

How does the board arrive at a millage?

ANSWER:

They sit down with all the known facts and figures, attempt to estimate the probable factors which will ultimately influence the operation of schools next year, and then arrive at a joint decision on a millage amount which they believe is a sufficient amount to operate schools.

QUESTION:

Couldn't schools cut out the frills of education such as music?

ANSWER:

It's difficult to define just what a "frill" is. To a music student, music certainly would not seem to be a "frill." A school district's educational program is a carefully considered series of courses which try to respond to the educational needs and desires of young people. If you think there are "frills" in Huron's educational program, you might want to check with a teacher or administrator to get all the facts about the value of a particular course or activity.

To answer your question directly, schools would reduce costs if they reduced the number of courses offered, but the long-term price of ignorance could be expensive to our children.

QUESTION:

I've heard the term "fund equity." Just what is a "fund equity?"

ANSWER:

A "fund equity" is the excess of the assets of a fund over its liabilities and reserves. Assets include such things as cash, accounts receivable, taxes receivable, inventory, money due from other funds, money due from other government agencies, and pre-paid expenses. Liabilities include such things as accounts payable, salaries and withholding payables, contracts payable, money due to other funds and deferred revenue.

Officials to attend hearing on solid waste disposal act

New Michigan legislation dealing with solid waste disposal was sharply criticized by Van Buren Township Sup. Pat Cullin, who along with other government officials and the general public, attended public hearings Friday in Lansing.

Another local government official, Henry Redman, Sumpter Township manager, said it was too early for him to make any final decisions on the new act, which was signed by the Governor only last January.

"Possible ramifications of Act 641 make it difficult to make positive judgments at this time," Redman said. "I will reserve my opinions until more facts are in."

'I will reserve
my opinions until more facts are in...'

Cullin was critical of Michigan Act 641 of the Public Acts of 1978 because its provisions supersede laws on the local government level.

"Act 641 is a step in the right direction, but it doesn't go far enough," she exclaimed. "It's okay if the state wants to establish minimum criteria, but local governments should be able to go on from there."

Rather than have the state, under Act 641, overrule local governments on such matters as solid waste disposal, she feels that such control should be up to cities and townships.

"If local governments want to make state laws such as Act 641 more strict, then they should be able to do so," Cullin explained.

She said anyone who is interested in solid waste disposal should attend the hearings being held in Lansing. "Personally, I feel that legislation should not take control away from local government; this one does," she said.

Cullin reported that representatives of many large companies and George Graft, president of the Michigan Chamber of Commerce, warned those at the hearings that many businesses now operating in Michigan would be forced to leave the state because of the high cost of complying with provisions of Act 641.

She said Sam Henderson, representing Michigan foundries, testified it would take a 640-acre site just to isolate a 40-acre landfill site for solid waste disposal.

Input being gathered by Michigan legislators will help the state implement the newly-passed Act 641, as well as help determine how, when, where, and what solid wastes will be disposed of.

Glen Brown, director of environmental health, Wayne County Health Department, agreed that Act 641 is complicated and will vary in some respects from county to county within the state.

He said Act 641 requires each Michigan county to develop its own plan for solid waste disposal. After "dialogue" with various communities, the plan must be approved by the county board of commissioners, the state Department of Natural Resources and the community in which the plan will be used.

"For the plan to be accepted," Brown said, "two-thirds of the communities in the county must have approved it."

Brown admitted that local communities will have less control over solid waste programs "to some extent" under Act 641, which he said updated and expanded existing laws.

Riegle to speak at Chamber meet

The Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce announced that Sen. Donald Riegle will be the chamber's guest speaker Tuesday, Sept. 4, for the September membership luncheon.

Through the efforts of the chamber's president, Gary Bingham, and the Board of Directors, business people and citizens of Romulus will be able to hear and questions the senator on various topics.

The Chamber extends an in-itation to anyone interested in attending this special luncheon. Because of limited tickets, reservations are a must; deadline to purchase tickets is Aug. 30, 1979. Please call the chamber office for reservations and questions, (941-5710-11).

The luncheon will begin at 11:30 a.m., at the Ramada Inn - Metro-8270 Wickham, Romulus. Price of tickets is $10 per person. At the registration table there will be cards on hand for questions addressed to the senator.

Contest ends program

Children attending the summer reading program at the Romulus Public Library end their labors each year with a fun thing - a costume party in two age groups, 6-8 and 9-12. In upper photo, youngsters in the lower age group who were judged Friday as the four top winners are: first, Tomiko Norcross, Indian; second Laurie Gasko, Raggedy Ann; third, Christy Wainman, gypsy; and fourth, Michelle Manikowski, Pinochio. Pupils in 9-12 age category who won prizes and who are shown in lower photo are: first, Todd Wainman, Darth Vader from Star Wars; second (tie), Paul and Mark Pyenta, dictionary and encyclopedia; third, Jackie Love, hobo; and fourth, Harold Gregory, Indian. Senior housing, fire station near construction start

Two major Romulus building projects, a senior citizen housing complex and a fifth city fire station are tentatively scheduled to start up within the next two months, according to Mayor William M. Oakley.

The mayor announced a September groundbreaking for the $225,000 fire station and an Oct. 1, 1979 target construction date for the "Romulus Tower" elderly housing complex.

"Both projects are the result of months of careful preparation and study," the mayor said, "and represent the kind of positive progress our city must have to grow and prosper."

The housing project, to be constructed behind the downtown area between Shook and Olive Streets, is being developed by North Cranbrook Associates at a cost of approximately $4,000,000.

The six-story complex, similar in design to the Wayne Towers and Garden City Towers, built by the same firm, will contain 115 one-bedroom dwelling units and 10 two-bedroom units.

Residents must be 62 years of age or older to qualify, with first preference given to Romulus residents. In certain instances, handicapped persons who have not yet attained the age of 62 may also be admitted.

Residents will pay 15 to 25 percent of their income for rent. The building will be constructed using the latest in security systems, including: a single entrance from outside, television camera surveillance of the foyer, a sophisticated call and fire alarm system throughout the building and a well-lighted parking lot for 63 cars.

The main floor will also include a large lounge, multi-purpose room, library, card room, arts and crafts workshop, special meeting room, laundry, storage, office space and outdoor patio area complete with shuffleboard courts.

The site will be within easy walking distance of the post office, senior center, bank, hardware, supermarket, secretary of state's office, drugstore, lawyers offices, barbershops, and other retail stores.

Mayor Oakley said all interested residents who would like to sign up the housing structure, should call his office, giving name, address and telephone number.

The new Romulus fire station, which will be located on Northline Road, approximately a quarter mile east of Huron River Drive, will service the southwest portion of the city, including the downtown area and several housing subdivisions.

Situated on 1.6 acres of land purchased as excess property from the State of Michigan for $9,000, the station will be similar in appearance to the new station No. 4 located on Eureka Road.

It will contain 2,700 square feet of garage, office, meeting and storage space, and is intended to eventually replace fire station No. 1, located next to the recreation department.

It is being constructed with a $90,000 community development block grant and monies from the sale of the old court-house and fire station site on Eureka Road.

The station will be manned by a 13-member volunteer crew and equipped with a new front line pumper, new rescue van, and possibly a new quick foam rig and attack pumper.

'Sunset' bill: Lawmakers argue pros, cons

By CARRIE YOUNG
ANP Staff Writer

Close your books, it's a quiz. Only one question, but it's tricky and multiple choice.

"Sunset" legislation is: (1) A very "sexy" issue. (2) Capable of "bringing the State of Michigan to a halt." (3) A bill which recently passed the Senate, but has been called "nothing but a fraud in the Senate." (4) Intended to review existing state programs to determine whether those programs are necessary or waste of taxpayers' dollars. (5) All of the above.

The answer is all of the above. That is, depending on who is speaking on the issue.

If it's Senate Majority Leader William Faust, the proposed legislation is potentially "dangerous."

Faust, a Democrat, represents the Westland, Wayne and Canton communities, among others in his 13th District.

Sunset legislation, according to its definition, is proposed to review all of the state's 19 departments, with the review to be done on a periodic basis.

The intent of the review is to eliminate wasteful and outdated programs, many of which continue on and on because the State Legislature has never been required to re-evaluate the programs' usefulness.

That's where sunset comes into play. Such a law puts an automatic ending date on a program, unless the program is specifically continued by the lawmakers after review.

Faust said he is in favor of cleaning up government waste, and thus supports the theory of legislation. But he is quick to note his opposition to a "key" provision of the bill.

"I oppose terminating programs automatically. What if there isn't time to review the program before the termination date. Should the program just end?" Faust asked.

"They enacted it (sunset legislation) in Colorado, and it's one of the most horrible pieces of legislation I've ever seen," Faust said. "They were caught in a mess, because they couldn't review the programs in time and had they adhered to the termination date Colorado would have ceased."

"Colorado would have come to an end."

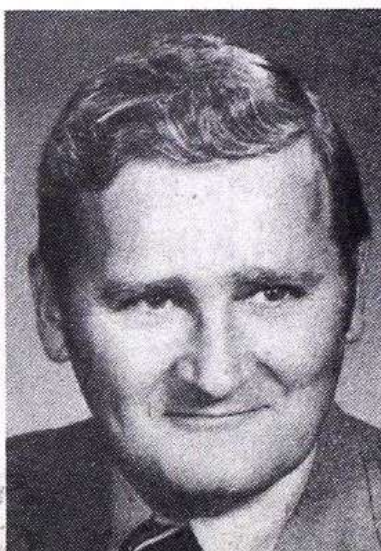

To that argument, Steve Carter, state chairperson of Michigan Common Cause, says "political rhetoric."

"It may sound good, but really it's just a smoke screen. Without a termination date to sunset, there will never be a way to force the legislature to review the programs," Carter said. "Termination of bad programs is sunset."

Common Cause is a nationwide citizens lobby and was the principle supporter of the sunset legislation's passage in Colorado. That was four years ago.

THOMAS BROWN

Carter said although there are some flaws in the sunset law passed in Colorado, the legislation could be feasible and practical, if a provision was added to a Michigan law requiring staggered termination dates.

"It's certainly very needed and a very sexy issue now," Carter said. "After the last election with three tax limitation issues on the ballot, the citizen concern is with cutting taxes, cutting the waste and getting rid of the fat in government."

Past voting practices on the issue in both the House of Representatives and the Senate during the past three years has shown a partisan split, with more Republicans favoring the cleanup government legislation than Democrats.

State Rep. Robert Law, representing the Livonia and Westland communities, is a Republican. He supports sunset legislation, including the provision for a termination date.

Interestingly enough, so does State Rep. Thomas Brown, a Democrat, who represents Canton Township, Wayne and Westland. Brown also favors automatic termination.

"I have to say that without a termination date, I hesitate giving my support to the bill," Brown said.

Admitting to having no certain or exact knowledge as to how many programs actually exist within each of the 19 state departments, Brown said the time has come to flush out waste in Michigan government.

Sunset, he said, has the capabilities to do just that and at all levels where state programs reach.

"I don't honestly know how many programs we have, but I do know there are thousands," Brown said, adding that he is curious to find out exactly how many programs exist and if their usefulness has run out.

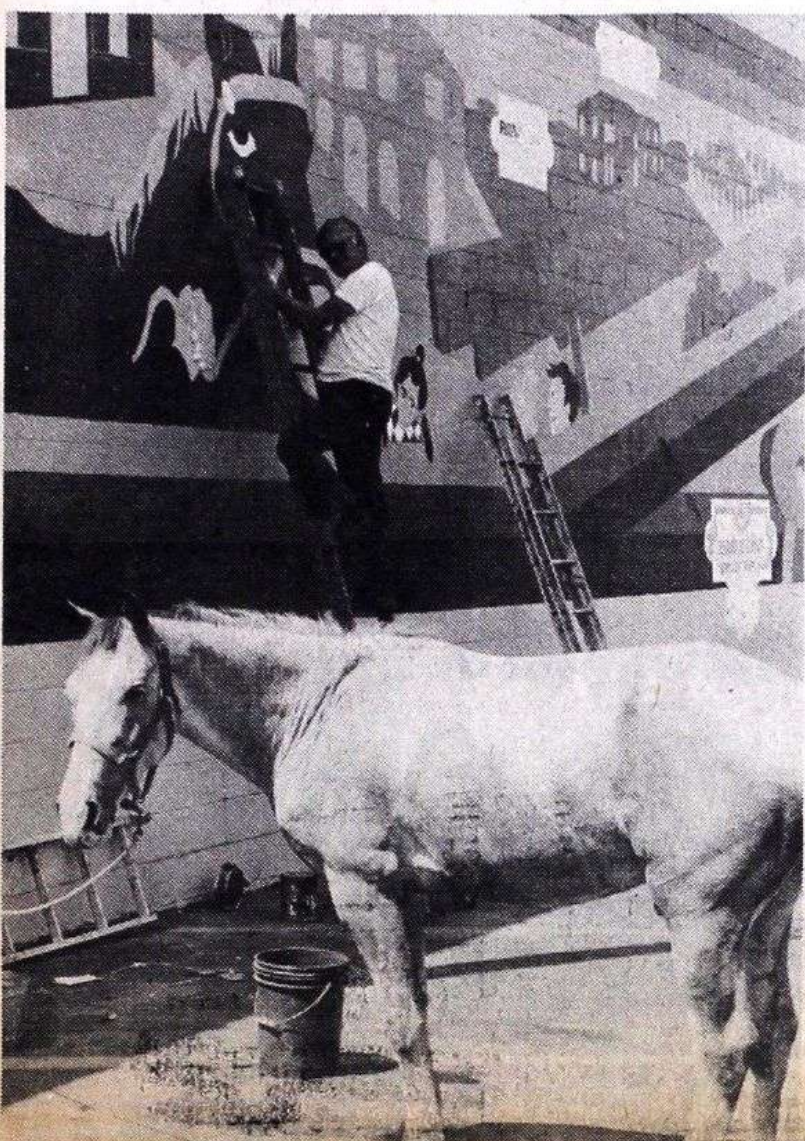

Faust disagrees. It is Faust's belief that programs which have run their course of usefulness will, in time, fade from the funding scene.

"Like the program for Spanish American War Veterans. In about eight years there probably will only be two (veterans) left in the state, and the program will terminate itself," Faust explained.

That theory, however, was refuted by Rep. Law.

Law said since he was elected to office three years ago, he can recall debating the merits of sunset legislation, and still today is urging the bill be given termination "teeth."

"Let's face it, as long as the funds keep coming and no questions asked, the programs will continue," Law said. "There has to be a cut-off date for programs, or it won't be worth anything."

Immortalized

A Romulus horse is being immortalized on the mural covering Bilmar's Supermarket, as a result of a "horse-sitting" session held in the parking lot of the grocery store last week. The horse, a three-year-old stallion owned by Pauline Smith of 6775 Merriman Rd., is pictured

Immunization record must be complete

Immunization records for students attending in either the Romulus or Van Buren school districts must indicate that the student has received the required vaccines.

According to Janice Arsenault, a registered nurse from the Wayne County Health Department, there are four vaccines, D.P.T. (diphtheria, pertussis, tetanus), polio, measles, and Rubella.

Mrs. Arsenault said the vaccinations are given free of charge at the county health department.

The starting age for immunization shots begins at age 2 months through 5 years of age, and then from 6 years of age through 17 years of age, she noted.

"Tetanus and diphtheria boosters are needed every 10 years after the completion of schedule throughout life," said Mrs. Arsenault.

She urged students to have their shots early on, rather than procrastinating out of "fear" and then wind-up having to cluster the long series of shots needed through the years.

Parents with infants should also take heed of the health department's strong urgings that babies be given vaccinations, at the proper schedule, she said.

"There is a series of vaccinations starting at 2 months to 18 months, and if those haven't been given by the time the student reaches school age, then the shots must be given," Mrs. Arsenault said.

"I really feel for the kids that come to school and haven't had this, because they'll have to go through it just like they would have when they were babies, and that's not something to look forward to," she added.

Immunization, though usually associated with part of the back-to-school preparation schedule, actually begins soon after birth.

The health department motto? "Get them while they're young," grinned Mrs. Arsenault.

The city of Romulus is again offering area residents the opportunity to purchase top quality smoke and fire detectors below normal retail prices as part of a "Save-A-Life" fire prevention program sponsored by the Romulus Fire Department.

The battery-operated, ionization type detectors are manufactured by the Honeywell Corporation and have received high ratings from both Consumer Research and Underwriters Laboratories, city officials said. They come with a written lifetime guarantee.

The smoke detectors will sell for $14.51, but a $5 rebate available from the company, will bring the final purchase price down to only $9.51 to Romulus residents.

Mayor William M. Oakley, in announcing the program, stressed that this is not a money-making venture, but offered by the city as a public service to increase incentive for residents to enhance the fire protection of their homes.

The detectors are now on sale at Fire Station No. 4 located at 28777 Eureka Rd., between 9 a.m.-5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Wayne County Sheriff officers John Walker and Jerry Billiter have completed an advanced two-week crime prevention course, at Macomb County Community College in preparation for a full fall schedule of Neighborhood Watch programs offered throughout the city of Romulus.

The two deputies are assigned full-time to the Romulus Community Relations Office, located at the DPW headquarters, 34100 Goddard Rd., and have been instrumental in implementing the mayor's directive to establish and promote neighborhood watch organizations in major Romulus neighborhoods.

Huron to get dog pound

Foundation takes shape for the new dog pound for Huron Township behind Fire Station No. 1 at Sterling and Kass streets in New Boston. Financed by federal revenue sharing funds, the pound is being built by the township, which is acting as general contractor and subcontracting work. Action was taken when bids coming in for the project repeatedly proved to be too high. Currently, Huron contracts with Sumpter Township to house stray animals, a practice which has proved to be expensive, according to Clerk Mary Lou Carey. (Photo by Tom Greenwood, ANP staff photographer.)

To date, watch groups have met and/or organized in the Meadows Wyndcliff, Oakbrook, Oakbrook Townhouses, Key Manor and the Wayne-Beverly areas.

For more information about Neighborhood Watch, call the mayor's office at 941-0666 or the Wayne County Sheriff's Romulus office at 942-9660.

Sept. 8, 1979, will mark the beginning of the ninth year that the Romulus Help Center has provided services to local residents. It was eight years earlier on that date that Earl Lamb, Dr. Elmer Goerke, Ron Makino and Henrietta Ellis signed incorporation papers to establish the agency at 35085 Goddard Rd., in a building provided by the city of Romulus.

With the continuing support of local city officials and residents, services have been increasing.

Residents are asked to call the center at 941-7970 or stop by the office if they or someone they know needs any of the following services: counseling for a problem of substance abuse; help in finding employment; grass cutting or leaf raking, house cleaning assistance or minor home repairs (limited to persons 60 years of age and older); a low interest loan or a grant to make major repairs to your home.

"Due to the fire at the Romulus recreation department building, we are a little late in completing the scheduled programs for fall and winter. We wish to apologize for any inconvenience caused. Oct. 15, 1979 is the new date for the start of the fall programs," explained Marie Debuyscher, director.

Dance programs for youth and adults will include disco, tap, ballet and square dancing.

Bowling and karate will be offered for boys and girls ages 8 through 14.

Open recreation for teens and adults will be available at most elementary schools.

Youth recreation for boys and girls, which includes basketball, volleyball, floor hockey and other open activities, will be available at most elementary schools.

Touch football, volleyball and basketball leagues are going to be incorporated into the fall and winter program for adults. Fees will be charged for team entry.

Ceramics, craft classes, flower arranging, knitting and crocheting will be offered to Romulus citizens. For these classes, students must provide their own materials and pay a small fee.

For complete information on these and other programs, please consult the flyer which will be mailed to each home prior to Oct. 1, 1979, or call 941-0666, extension 67-68, the director requested.

Van Buren sets community education schedule

If you want to avoid a ho-hum fall, why not enroll in a class offered through the adult and community education program of the Van Buren Public Schools.

There definitely is something for everyone.

In the enrichment, leisure and hobby classes residents can choose from ceramics, painting with water colors, holiday crafts and decorations, family affair classes in buying and selling a house, estate planning and wills and living with your aging parent; a parenting option on how to raise a winner; home arts in cake decorating, knitting for the beginner, sewing for the beginner and sewing with knits.

Other enrichment classes cover snowmobile maintenance and small engine repair and maintenance, ski conditioning for personal fitness buffs, as well as gymnastics and swimming and aerobics and volleyball, Red Cross instructional classes in cardio-pulmonary resuscitation, for expectant parents and first aid for home and family, amateur radio-working, house plant care, refresher typing and shorthand.

The enrichment classes will be offered at Belleville High School, beginning the week of Sept. 17. Registration can be completed in person from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the administration building, 555 W. Columbia, Belleville. There also is an evening registration period from 7 to 9 p.m.

Leisure classes being offered at Sumpter School include home carpentry, home wiring and upholstery.

A free high school completion program is open to adults 18 years of age and older, who wish to work for a high school diploma, or other persons who can benefit from refresher or preparatory courses for further training and education.

Evening classes will be offered at Belleville High School, beginning Sept. 17. Classes include English general composition, introduction to literature, refresher English and refresher reading, biology for two semesters and physical science, also two semesters long, American government, American history and psychology, algebra (two semesters), consumer's mathematics, career orientation, shorthand I and II, typing I and II, office techniques and business communications, business machines, art I, machine technology, mechanical drawing.

At the Belleville vocational center, automotive servicing, automotive body repair and welding will be offered.

Registration for the high school completion courses is slated for Sept. 4-5 from 7 to 9 p.m. at the administration building. Appointments can be made by calling 697-9123.

And if that isn't enough of a selection, several courses, offered through Wayne County Community College, will be conducted at the high school.

Starting Sept. 17 will be fundamental accounting techniques as related to small business, introduction to the discipline of political science, introduction to interior design concepts, income tax accounting, the study and application of basic speed principles in speech and an analysis of the arts and the relationship of one art form to another.

Starting up Sept. 18 are classes in writing expository essays, the theory, practice and development of functions of supervision as they relate to a business environment, solving business math problems, basic sociological concepts, basic organizational concepts of management and world regional geography.

There also are weekly classes in the introduction to the study of aging and portrayal of the woman's role in plays, poetry and novels through the last century.

Registration and orientation for the WCCC classes will be at 7 p.m. Sept. 12 in the high school's mini-auditorium.

Veterans need VA info packet

Veterans of all ages should have an "information packet for survivors" filed with their will, the Veterans Administration suggests.

In case of accident, severe illness or death this information could speed help to the veteran or his survivors.

There are many benefits available to veterans which may be provided quickly, if proper information is available. In case of accident or illness, relatives would need such information should the veteran require VA hospitalization.

In case of death benefits include a burial and plot allowance of $450; a flag for the service, and a headstone for the grave.

Information which a veteran should have compiled on one card include full name — as used in service; service serial number; Social Security number; VA Claim number, if any; branch of service; and dates of service.

A veteran's discharge should be kept together with a will, insurance policies, marriage certificate and other important documents.

Veterans with other than dishonorable discharges are eligible for all death benefits.

PRE-PAID PRE-PLAN OR NOT WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?

One's pre-planned funeral need not be paid for in advance.

Funeral arrangements may be made in advance. Music and scripture readings selected, funeral service details are all noted and casket chosen, price range fixed - all without spending a dime at this time.

This manner of pre-planning becomes a guide for your family to follow. It is an expression of your personal wishes. But it is a guide only, until payment is arranged. Your family can take care of pre-payment in advance of - or at the time of need.

If you make pre-payment arrangements in advance, you have assured yourself your wishes will be followed exactly and to the letter. You have the peace-of-mind in knowing the chore is taken care of now. It will not be thrust upon your family in their time of emotional stress.

You may stop by or call for full details.

Sports Day Sept. 9

By KIM KNILVILA

The Lemontree Complex will be having an exciting sports day on Sunday, September 9. Lemontree, Paddles, and Sports Illustrated Court Clubs will be hosting a mini-marathon and Fun Run for residents and interested area athletes. The 10,000 meter mini-marathon, (6.2 miles) will wind through the complex and also go through Van Buren Park. Part of the course will be on paved roads, and the rest will be run on a hilly dirt road. The 2 mile Fun Run is for the beginner or not so serious runner. It will start at the same time as the 10,000, but will veer off onto a different path to finish up at the racquetball club. The race will be divided up into eight different age categories. There will be one male and one female winner in each group: 18 and under, 19-30, 31-45 and 46 and over. There will be merchandise prizes for each winner. An overall male and female winner will also be awarded with a trophy. In addition, the first male and female finisher from Lemontree will also be receiving awards. They will be given a reduction in their rent. All participants will be receiving t-shirts.

Prizes will be offered by Lemontree, area merchants, Paddles and Sports Illustrated Court Clubs. The races will begin at 10:00 a.m. from the Lemontree Clubhouse. Registration will be taken from 7:00-9:00 a.m. in the clubhouse lounge and there will also be hospitality offered at that time. The race will finish up at Paddles and Sports Illustrated; and they will be offering specials to the runners.

Volunteers are needed to assisted in the running of the meet. If anyone is interested, contact the social director at Lemontree by calling 697-9156. If interested in running in the race, fill out the entry form below. It must be returned to Lemontree no later than September 3. The entry fee is $5.00. There will be no post entries. Send to: Kim Knilvila, Meet Director, Lemontree, 49000 Denton Rd., Belleville, 48111.

The Television System of Tomorrow!

Now Sanyo puts it all together. All the newest and most advanced TV technology available: microcomputer control circuitry, "channel lock" frequency synthesizer tuning with crystal-controlled phase locked loop circuitry for incredible accuracy.

pushbutton digital channel selection plus channel scanning, infra-red wireless remote control and VIR - the greatest advance in color control since color TV!

All network and most local stations now broadcast specially coded VIR signals along with their programs which contain all the information necessary to adjust your set for perfect color reproduction. If your set has the special circuitry needed to decode the VIR signals, circuitry which Sanyo has perfected, VIR signals automatically adjust the color 30 times every second! Don't confuse VIR with "color lock" or "color track" systems which attempt to guess at correct color settings. VIR is a major new development in color TV accuracy.

JOE COUGHLIN

A new national advertising campaign, a take-off on the theme "I Love New York", features Joe Coughlin, president of F.X. Coughlin Company of Romulus. The campaign, sponsored by the Massachusetts Port Authority, is designed to attract overseas air travelers and cargo away from New York. Actual agents and shippers, such as Coughlin, who prefer the Boston gateway over New York are used to deliver the message. Coughlin is shown in the ad wearing a T-shirt with "I Love New York, But..." on the front and, on the back, "I ship Through Boston." He is quoted as saying: "If you've ever had to track down a shipment at Kennedy, you'll appreciate shipping through Boston's Logan."

Airmen Holland, Divetta join in Global Shield exercise

Airman 1.c. Rodger G. Holland, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger C. Holland of Sibley Road, Romulus, and Airman 1.c. John J. Divetta, the son of Frances S. Divetta of LeRoy, Romulus, recently participated in Global Shield 79, and Air Force exercise conducted by the Strategic Air Command.

Airman Holland is an aerospace ground equipment mechanic with a SAC unit at Anderson Air Force Base, Guam. Airman Divetta is a security specialist with a SAC unit at K.I. Sawyer Air Force Base, Mich.

Global Shield 79, which involved bomber, tanker, missile and reconnaissance forces; and associated Air Force Reserve units, was the largest and most comprehensive test of SAC forces in more than 20 years.

Also in the armed forces, Robert E. Champagne, 17, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Champagne of Westvale, Romulus, enlisted in the U.S. Air Force today, departing for six weeks of basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex. Champagne has been guaranteed training as an airlift-bombardment aircraft maintenance specialist. The 1979 graduate of Romulus Senior High School will receive college credit for his Air Force training through the Community College of the Air Force.

Upon graduation from technical training school, Champagne will be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

Air Force Maj. Brian L. Walters, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester O. Walters of Edgedale Drive, Belleville, has graduated from the Armed Forces Staff College at Norfolk, Va.

The 5-month Department of Defense school provides students with intensive education related to national and international security.

Maj. Walters is being assigned to Wheeler Air Force Base, Hawaii, for duty as a communications electronics engineer with a unit of the Air Force Systems Command.

The major, a 1960 graduate of Belleville High School, received a bachelor's degree in 1965 from the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, and was commissioned through Air Force ROTC program. He received a master's degree in 1973 from Shippensburg State College, Shippensburg, Pa.

Navy Seaman Recruit Delvin A. Nelson, the son of Napoleon and Betty Nelson of Irma, Romulus, recently departed for a deployment in the Western Pacific.

He is a crewmember aboard the amphibious transport dock ship USS Duluth, homeported in San Diego, Calif., and operating as a unit of the 7th Fleet.

During the deployment, the Duluth is scheduled to participate in various training exercises with other 7th Fleet units and those of allied nations. Port visits are scheduled in several Far Eastern countries.

A 1978 graduate of Romulus High School, Nelson joined the Navy in December 1978.

Navy Seaman Recruit James A. Grobbel, the son of Richard A. Grobbel of Woodmont Avenue, Romulus, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the 8-week training cycle, he studied general military subjects designed to prepare him for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic occupational fields.

Included in his studies were seamanship, close-order drill, Naval history and first aid.

He joined the Navy in May 1979.

Shattered dream:

Auto dealer, GM face lawsuit over defective window

By CARRIE YOUNG
ANP Staff Writer

Terry Hoskins lives with one recurring nightmare. He sees shattered window glass falling before his eyes, and sprinkling across his face and shoulders.

It is not the nightmare which haunts him, but rather reality.

Hoskins, a 23-year-old Canton Township resident, insists his 1978 red Firebird is a death trap, one that nearly took his life.

By looking at Hoskins, today, it is hard to believe that only a few months ago his face was covered with razor thin cuts, literally hundreds of them.

After a 1-car accident, resulting from an alleged defective window on the driver's side of his new car, Hoskins says he now suffers from daily migraine headaches.

He is seeking retribution. Hoskins has filed a lawsuit for $1 million against auto dealership Red Holman Pontiac in Westland and General Motors Inc.

Hoskins recalls his life beginning its shift into reverse about six months after purchasing the sporty vehicle.

"One day I was sitting outside a party store and the window just popped out. It just shattered. I wasn't doing anything to it," Hoskins said.

He was not injured, that time.

The window was promptly replaced by the Westland auto dealer, and Hoskins went on his way. A few weeks later, however, when he and his wife and small child were attempting to exit the car the window again shattered.

"My son was in my lap that time,"

Hoskins noted. That time, as in the previous incident the glass particles flew outward. No one was injured.

Back to the dealership. Only this time Hoskins recalls asking management to investigate the baffling matter. He, then, insisted the automobile be returned to the manufacturer, and he be given a replacement vehicle.

"But the guy said, I won't use his words, that I couldn't expect him to replace the whole ... car," Hoskins said. "So I just gave up and let him repair the window."

Then it happened again and again.

But it was the fourth encounter that left Hoskins with both mental and physical scars.

"It was the fourth time that I got hurt. I was driving along about 30 miles an hour and it was snowing and windy," Hoskins said.

The window popped, this time with the shattered glass particles flying in his face.

"I grabbed my face, and blood began to pour all over the place," he squeaked. "I can still actually see it happening."

The car, uncontrolled, swerved into a stop sign. On impact Hoskins flew into the dashboard, then after being jostled about, his back smashed against the steering wheel.

"Since then I've been walking into walls, losing my balance. And headaches, well, they're everyday," Hoskins said.

Doctors have not been able to determine the exact cause of his physical ailments, and Hoskins said, with medical bills mounting, he is scheduled to undergo numerous tests by neurologist.

His medical leave at Hydro-Matic, a division of General Motors in Ypsilanti, is only permitted for a limited time, and due to "doctors' orders" he must refrain from most physical activity.

"I'm not the kind of person to sue people, but if I can't find a job the rest of my life, what else could I do," said Hoskins.

Hoskins' attorney, Kenneth Morris, said it may be a matter of years before his case goes before a trial and is resolved.

"But in cases like this, he will collect. There is no doubt about that. The only question is when," Morris said.

According to Morris, the Hoskins case is "just a tip of the iceberg", in Recurring 'nightmare'

Terry Hoskins is suing Red Holman Pontiac, in Westland and General Motors Inc. for $1 million. He is seeking retribution for injuries sustained from a 1-car accident which he alleges to be caused by a defective window in the 1978 Firebird he purchased last year from the auto dealership. Four times, said Hoskins, the window on the driver's side mysteriously broke and shattered. It was the fourth time that he incurred physical harm, and shortly after the lawsuit was filed. — ANP photo, opening up the complex issue of consumer versus auto dealers and manufacturers.

"Everybody's been in a situation similar to Hoskins, maybe not as dramatic. You get a lemon, and you want to get rid of it. But you don't know how you can afford to pay on the first car and buy another," Morris said.

Morris laments there is no legislative support for Hoskins, and others like him, with the judicial process being a consumer's only legal recourse.

"There is no law backing him, forcing them to either give him a new car, or make the necessary adjustments," Morris said.

Both spokespersons for the Westland-based dealership and General Motors refused comment on the lawsuit.

Joe Tuchinsky, co-director of Michigan Citizen Lobby, confirmed that while there is no state law mandating the manufacturer replace a defective vehicle, he said court precedents have upheld the right of the purchaser in cases similar to Hoskins.

Michigan Citizens Lobby is the state-wide organization, 65,000 members strong, which successfully lobbied for the passage of the "auto lemon" law.

Hoskins is suing for both compensatory damages, and product liability. Product liability focuses on whether a consumer incurs physical harm due to a defect in the product.

"It sounds rather clear cut. The car caused him to get in the accident," Tuchinsky said.

Tuchinsky said the manufacturers have, over the years, tried to amend state legislation to make it more difficult for the consumer to file lawsuits. Michigan Citizens Lobby has lobbied against such amendments to state laws.

He noted that General Motors should not claim it had no knowledge of the condition of Hoskins vehicle.

"You can be sure that from the very first time he brought it in for repair, the manufacturer knew. It's amazing that they did nothing."

Meanwhile, Hoskins is driving the Firebird, while patiently waiting for a physician's report on whether he suffers physiologically from driving the vehicle.

That medical report was requested by his attorney, and, according to Morris, will most likely be utilized at the trial.

Hoskins does drive the auto, but after the last accident he has refused to replace the window.

"I'll wait it out, if I have to, but I won't put another window in."

St. Aloysius set for polka festival

Polka tunes will be the music of the day this weekend as St. Aloysius Church of Romulus stages its annual Polka Festival.

Stated for Saturday through Monday, the festival will feature five bands—John Sadrack and his Orchestra from 6 to 10 p.m. Saturday, Marshall Lackowski from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday, Bruno Mikos and the Harmony Stars from 6 to 10 p.m. Sunday, the Canadian Fiddlistix from 1 to 5 p.m. Monday and Bob Earl and the All Stars from 6 to 10 p.m. Monday.

The festival, which will be held on the parish grounds at 11280 Ozga Road, will feature chicken dinners on Sunday and spaghetti dinners Monday, both served from noon to 6 p.m.

There also will be games, rides, booths, refreshments, beer, bingo and a grand raffle, featuring cash prizes.

There will be a $2.50 per adult admission charge for entry into the entertainment tent, where there will be dancing. Children under 14, accompanied by an adult, will be admitted free of charge.

Parent class offered

The Wayne County Department of Health will be offering two series of classes for expectant parents at locations in Taylor and Westland, beginning next month.

The series will be offered at the South Health Center, 21201 Eureka, Taylor, beginning Sept. 11, and the Department of Health, located on Merriman Road north of Michigan Avenue in Westland, beginning Sept. 12.

The classes will use group discussion methods and will be led by a public health nurse. The series will be for six consecutive weeks from 7 to 9 p.m.

Members of the group will discuss those questions and concerns about pregnancy, labor and delivery and infant care, which are of common interest to the group as a whole.

Since the size of the group is limited, interested persons are urged to register as early as possible. For registration, or further information, contact the health department at 274-2800 or 729-2211, ext. 390, weekdays between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

The next series of classes at the two locations will start Oct. 23.

Coronary Open to be Sept. 19

The fifth annual Michigan Heart Association Coronary Open will be held Sept. 19 at Bald Mountain Golf Course in Lake Orion.

The tournament, which is open to anyone who has had any form of heart ailment, is held each year to encourage heart patients to increase their range of recreational activities, and to promote public awareness of heart patients' potential for such activities.

Entrants are reminded to check with their physicians before golfing in the tourney.

Registration fee for the tourney is $15 to play 18 holes on the regulation course, or $10 for 9 holes on the executive course. Both fees include not only the cost of golfing, but also dinner and prizes.

Anyone interested in entering the tourney, may call Tom Matz, Michigan Heart Association, at (313) 557-9500.

Commissioners seek reinstatement of DAJAC program

Wayne County Commissioners Jackie L. Currie of Detroit and Mary E. Dumas of Livonia, with the strong support of industrial, civic and police organizations, hope to convince State Corrections Director Perry Johnson their "Day at Jackson" (DAJAC) juvenile program should be continued after the present 60-day suspension expires Sept. 16.

Unless Johnson changes his mind, the commissioners fear "Day at Jackson" will be permanently dismantled, as was the Rahway Prison program in New Jersey earlier this year.

Both Mrs. Currie and Mrs. Dumas vigorously point out: "DAJAC is a totally different concept in that AFTER juvenile offenders are subjected to Jackson Prison's "JOLT" (Juvenile Offenders Learn Truth) program they are provided additional counseling, job potentials and home leadership to help them build a new life.

"Rahway and other similar projects attempted to scare the juveniles away from crime by exposing them to a half-day of mental abuse from hard-core prisoners, and then simply sent them home without any further assistance."

The commissioners are convinced "Day at Jackson" was put in jeopardy because James C. Yarbrough, chief of research for the State Corrections Commission, made his evaluation of the program prematurely, not allowing time to properly implement the follow-up portion.

"That was actually the heart of DAJAC's concept," they stressed. "Day at Jackson" was conceived by the two commissioners as a result of the on-going JOLT project, formed by Jackson prisoners Dec. 7, 1978, under the supervision of the State Corrections Commission, in which court-referred delinquents were exposed to the horrors of actual prison life.

The project gave Corrections officials an opportunity to compare two test groups of delinquents — those faced with prison life and those not.

Although Johnson's report was critical of the over-all program his findings indicated "control group members whose major activity is school or work—and who reside with parents—are somewhat favored to have fewer offenses at six months than other combinations of groups."

"Wayne County's program encompasses the counties of Oakland, Macomb and Washtenaw and has been financed through private contributions totaling $4,451 from local industries, civic groups, police enforcement organizations and individuals," Mrs. Currie explained. "These same groups along with the Detroit school system and New Detroit organization are the ones that will be asking the Corrections Commission to continue the 'Day at Jackson' and JOLT programs."

Some 227 youngsters from the 4-county area visited Jackson before the suspension; 500 were referred by probation authorities.

"One factor the Corrections Commission failed to take into consideration," Sheriff William Lucas pointed out, "is the unexpected results the programs have had on prisoners at Jackson. These projects actually have set the ground work for a new prison reform system."

"Hard-core prisoners with sentences ranging from 22-25 years are the only ones allowed to take part in JOLT. Those who compile more than two demerits in two years are disqualified, and at present there are more than 3,000 prisoners waiting to take part.

"This tells me that these prisoners have found a way to make restitution to society by helping youngsters avoid the life-styles that eventually lead to prison."

"Even if 'Day at Jackson' were a total flop, and it certainly isn't, the potential reform in our prison system is well worth the effort," he asserted.

Kensington sets 2 events

The nature center of Kensington Metropark will feature several special events during the month of September, including a family nature program, "Turtles and Tales", at 2 p.m. Saturday.

This hour-long program will cover the turtles of southeastern Michigan and will explore man's relationships to turtles as evidenced through legends and popular stories.

The indoor discussion will be followed by an outdoor hike. Advanced registration is required.

Explore river life by canoe at the park at 8:30 a.m. Sunday.

Bring your canoe and join naturalist Dave Moilanen for a pleasant and interesting 2½-hour tour along the Huron River. Herons, kingfishers, wildflowers and other river inhabitants are easily observed from a canoe. Meet at the Windfall picnic area.

Advance registration is required.

Or enjoy a sunset nature cruise aboard the Island Queen excursion boat at the park at 8 p.m. Sept. 5.

Naturalist Dave Moilanen will be on deck to discuss the human and natural history of the area. Participants should meet at the boat rental dock.

There is a $1 per person charge for the 1-hour cruise, and advanced registration is required.

For information or registration for the three programs, contact the nature center of Kensington Metropark at 685-1561 (Milford). Vehicle entry permits are required.

 GOP holds contest

The Civic Host Committee for the 1980 Republican National Convention is sponsoring a contest to design the official logo for next year's convention in Detroit.

The winning design will be used as the official Detroit Convention symbol and will appear on signs, decorations, souvenirs and a variety of other welcoming items.

Logo designs should be submitted one per 8½" by 11 inch sheet of white paper. They should be designed in two colors, red and blue and must include the official Republican Party elephant, plus the words DETROIT and 1980 GOP.

Name, address and phone number of the entrant should appear on the reverse side of the entry.

Entries will be judged on the ability to create a design that will capture the rebirth of Detroit and the spirit of hospitality for the 1980 convention.

The contest is open to the public. Entries must be received in the Host Committee offices no later than 5 p.m., Sept. 10, 1979.

Judges for the contest will be the officers and Steering Committee of the Civic Host Committee. The winner will be announced at the official opening of the Host Committee offices in September.

Contest entries should be addressed to: Logo Contest, Civic Host Committee, 275 Veterans Memorial Building, Detroit, 48226.

All entries become the property of the Civic Host Committee, and none will be returned.

ARE YOU AWARE

Of God's Instructions For The Young?

NIV ECCLESIASTES 13:7 - Light is sweet, and it pleases the eyes to see the sun. 13:8 - However many years a man may live, let him enjoy them all, but let him remember the days of darkness, for they will be many. Everything to come is meaningless. 13:9 - Be happy, young man, while you are young, and let your heart give you joy in the days of your youth. Follow the ways of your heart and whatever your eyes see.

(Note that the above portion of V9 seems to be passing on the same sentiments we hear today about, (DO YOUR OWN THING) so it's really nothing new, now let's read the rest of verse 9. It adds a warning.)

But know that for all these things God will bring you to judgment. 13:10 - So then, banish anxiety from your heart and cast off the troubles of your body, for youth and vigor are meaningless. Eccl. 12:1 - Remember your creator in the days of your youth, before the days of trouble come and the years approach when you will say "I find no pleasure in them." Eccl. 12:7 - and the dust returns to the ground it came from, and the spirit returns to God who gave it. 12:8 - "meaningless! meaningless!" says the teacher. "Everything is meaningless!" 12:12 - Of making many books there is no end, and much study wears the body. 12:13 - Now all has been heard; here is the conclusion of the matter: fear God and keep his commandments for this is the whole duty of man. 12:14 - For God will bring every deed into judgment, including every hidden thing, whether it is good or evil.

YWCA nursery sets orientation

"Something new" has been added to the program at the Kiddie Junction Nursery School in Wayne, and the nursery is now taking registrations for fall full- and part-time programs in addition to the new drop-in program.

The Drop In is geared to the needs of those such as substitute teachers, on-call employees, shopping trips or club meetings.

Parents may come in and register their children, pay a registration fee and when the need for child care arises, the parent can telephone ahead to reserve space for their child. There is a nominal hourly fee and for five hours or more there is a daily fee.

Educational day care programs run from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. to meet with the working schedules of the parents. Part time programs are in the mornings from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and in the afternoon from 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Kiddie Junction is located at 4884 S. Wayne Road, between Annapolis and Van Born. For information, call 595-1222.

Head Start enrollment opens

Romulus youngsters who will be 4 years old by Dec. 1 currently can enroll in the Romulus Community Schools' Head Start program.

Sponsored by the federal government, Head Start is designed to serve families whose incomes are under low-income standards, families with handicapped children, regardless of income, and families currently eligible for public assistance benefits.

Applications for Head Start enrollment are available at the local elementary schools of the Board of Education, 36540 Grant Road. Applications should be returned to the school district by Sept. 7.

For further information contact

Audrey Kazanowski, director of Head Start, at 941-0610.

The school district also is gearing up for adult education classes, slated to begin Sept. 17.

Those persons interested in attending adult high school should contact the adult education office at 941-0610. All credit classes are free to adults working towards a high school diploma.

The GED high school equivalency examination also is free to students who wish to take it.

Veterans are eligible to receive Veteran Administration benefits, which total several hundred dollars a semester.

Day and evening classes are available, and subjects include traditional classes, such as mathematics, English, history and government, as well as special classes in bookkeeping, typing, shorthand and a variety of enrichment classes — welding, auto skills, dog obedience and disco or belly dancing.

Reorganization hearing set for Wednesday

A public hearing on court reorganization in Wayne County has been called for Sept. 5 at 10 a.m. on the seventh floor of the City-County Building in Detroit.

The announcement came from Commissioner Samuel A. Turner, chairman of a special subcommittee on court reorganization, which reports to the Public Safety and Judiciary Committee of the County Board of Commissioners.

Turner is sponsor of a resolution under consideration by the committee, which proposes a three-district plan for merging Detroit Recorder's and the County Circuit court into one court of general civil and criminal trial jurisdiction.

The plan has been agreed upon by judges from both courts, but the public hearing is needed for expression from the general public and employees who would be affected by any change.

"To my knowledge, all the plans given serious formal consideration up to this point have concerned mainly the judges," Turner indicated. "We have the equal obligation and responsibility to try resolving matters equally important to employees and other taxpayers.

"We are dealing with a situation that would permanently affect the lives of many people, and unless we are sure, it could affect them adversely as well as positively. We must also take every precaution in making sure there is some real benefit in savings and service."

In the merger plan, the three districts would include a Detroit district, an out-county district and an at-large district. After a phasing-in period following the merger, the number of judges eventually would be 23 in the Detroit and out-county districts, and 18 at-large.

Turner emphasized that all employees and citizens are welcome to testify.

Others serving on the special subcommittee who will jointly conduct the hearing are Commissioners James Rashid from Dearborn, the vice-chairman; and Delores Bennett, central Detroit.

Shoplifting: It's a crime that bridges Generation Gap

"The feedback I get from students in my classroom is that they really thought shoplifting was hidden under the covers. Their reaction is, 'How did you know about that?' You're not a part of my generation. It's almost like I'm bringing it out in the open by teaching it in class," said Mary Lou Speers, an Ann Arbor middle school teacher and consultant with the Michigan Consumer Education Center at Eastern Michigan University.

Speers recently authored a consumers training module for teachers titled, "Shoplifting: A Consumer Concern" which explores the social, legal and economic aspects of shoplifting.

Shoplifting has reached epidemic proportions in recent years, increasing dramatically since 1967. Recent estimates place the loss to theft at more than $5 billion a year nationally. As the price of goods has increased, so has the cost of items shoplifted from merchants.

The average value of items stolen has risen from $2 to $28 in the past few years, recent studies show. To deter shoplifters, merchants have installed all kinds of devices and gadgets — electronic alarms, magnetic clothing tags, two-way mirrors and plainclothes guards. Shoplifters come from all walks of life, are young or old, and can be customers or employees. But they all have one characteristic in common. Most could afford the item they chose to steal.

"The age old thought that, like in the Depression days, people steal because they just can't buy a necessity just doesn't hold up today. Local police officers say that most shoplifters they pick up have enough money in their pocket to pay for the stolen item," Speers explained.

Teen-agers, particularly girls, are the most common shoplifters. The reasons they shoplift are numerous:

—Today's youth are experience oriented. They want to experience everything, and shoplifting is just one experience.

—Shoplifters often feel the store owes them something. They may feel, for instance, that they just spent $15 for a shirt and it wasn't worth it, so the store owes them something else which they then steal.

—Peer pressure exerts a tremendous control over them. The teen-ager may feel that he or she has to shoplift to keep up with or be a part of a group.

—Some teenagers want to "rip off" the establishment by shoplifting.

—Material possessions aren't valued by teen-agers as much anymore.

Speers said: "Teen-agers don't put a lot of emphasis on material goods. There's not a lot of respect for whose property is whose. Of course, most of them have everything they want at home."

—Adults don't set good examples. Children and teen-agers see adults manipulating credit accounts and stealing ashtrays and towels from motels.

Speers feels that educating the public will deter shoplifting. The serious effects of shoplifting are discussed in a family ecology course she teaches, call "Buyer Beware." This year she received the "Teacher of the Year Award" in Michigan for her outstanding work in consumer education. Also, she has lectured about shoplifting in numerous in-service training programs for teachers and workshops for consumer groups.

In her classes and workshops, Speers often finds the attitude that if caught, the suspected shoplifter can simply feign and excuse and return the stolen item. But many merchants now are prosecuting suspected shoplifters despite the legal costs.

Speers stresses that shoplifting is a serious crime. Convicted shoplifters may receive prison sentences and/or fines, depending on the value of the item and shoplifter's past record.

Speers emphasizes that merchants pass the losses from shoplifting to customers. Ironically, it is the smaller businesses who can't afford great losses that suffer the highest percentage of shoplifting and retail crimes. These businesses, according to the Small Business Administration, often are forced to close, if shoplifting losses increase.

Since writing the booklet, Speers explained that "she is more tolerant of stores' policies. For instance, I more fully understand now why I have to take the potato bag from underneath the grocery store cart. People conceal things under them," she noted.

Although Speers' booklet was written primarily as a reference for consumer education teachers in intermediate and high schools, it is also useful for inservice training programs and workshops.

The booklet costs $2.25 and is available to the public at the Michigan Consumer Education Center, Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti 48197. Call the center at (313) 487-2292 for further information.

Things that Matter

One youth was killed and five others were wounded in shooting incidents at a Cleveland, Ohio, rock concert in July.

It was pointed out by many editorial observers that, shocking as the incidents of violence were, the "majority of the 65,000 young people who attended the concert were well-behaved."

This misses the point, even if it is true.

It could just as well be said that of the 65,000 youths present, only five were shot — there were 64,995 who weren't shot.

That also is true.

What the wild disorder at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium points up again, and what ought to be engaging our attention, is the fact that more people than we realize are walking around on the same turf with us — or maybe sitting on the same bus with us — concealing a gun or a knife.

And we are not doing anything about it.

To dismiss the matter by saying that the majority of us are well-behaved and not concealing anything dangerous on our person is to whistle in the dark — pretending that there is really nothing to fear when there is plenty to fear.

Talk of gun controls scares some people as much as guns scare the rest of us. They consider gun controls an infringement on their freedoms.

And of course they are. But we are now at the point where we must ask: Aren't there some freedoms that are worth more than others?

Aren't freedom from fear and freedom from threat of armed assault more precious to us than freedom to carry a gun of our own — or even than freedom from being searched?

Those who would protest that it is un-American to be frisked when you have done nothing even faintly suspicious should be reminded that U.S. Customs officials search good law-abiding citizens every day. Is that a "police state" tactic?

And we are frisked, in effect, every time we board a plane or see someone off at the airport.

We submit to some of these indignities — if that is what they are — so we can enjoy the dignity of staying alive longer.

Dr. B. F. Skinner of Harvard has written a book titled, "Beyond Freedom and Dignity," in which he argues that society can no longer afford the concepts of individual freedom and human dignity.

Many religious people rebel at this thought. Individual freedom and personal dignity must be respected at all costs, they say.

But if by that they mean that people who carry guns and knives must be allowed to walk the streets without fear of being searched in order not to ruffle the feathers of those who are supersensitive about their dignity, then we may be hastening the day of Skinner's "designed culture," when all of us will be manipulated and controlled to behave in socially desirable ways.

That prospect is more frightening to me than submitting to being searched.

It is folly to take the position that it is un-American to find out who the gun-toters on our streets are until after they have used their weapons on some innocent victim.

Isn't it more un-American to ask the rest of us to live in fear and trembling?

One high public official in Ohio told me after the rock concert shootings in Cleveland, "We must find some reasonable way to screen out the weapons which people are carrying."

Is frisking the way?

Holiday travel to decline

Michigan's tourist operators expect Labor Day weekend to continue an upward business swing which began in July, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Michigan tourism made a strong comeback in July, cutting a year-long deficit from 9 to 6 percent," said Joseph Ratke, Auto Club's touring manager. "A good Labor Day followed by an Indian summer could cut that deficit to 4 percent."

Motorists are expected to travel 680 million miles during the traditional "last fling" of summer, a 2 percent drop from 1978's record Labor Day holiday.

Next to unfounded fears of gasoline shortages and record high prices at the pump, Ratke said cool weather has been the biggest tourism deterrent this summer.

The National Weather Service in Detroit reports only one 90-degree day — Aug. 7 — so far this year. The last time Detroit went that long without a 90-degree reading was in

Departure from the normal mean temperature since Jan. 1 has totaled minus 688 degrees, meaning every day has been almost three degrees below normal in Detroit.

Southeast Michigan tourism, benefitting from near-home travel, is up 3 percent from last year, the only region in the state ahead of last year's pace.

The Upper Peninsula continues to be the hardest hit area for tourism with business down 20 to 22 percent, and crossings at the Mackinac Bridge off 10 percent from last year's level.

The tourist business in east Michigan, although down about 15 percent for the year to date, enjoyed its best July in history, according to the East Michigan Tourist Association. Executive Vice President James H. Hall said if August is as successful as July, the year's deficit will be cut in half.

West Michigan tourism is down 5 percent overall, but up 5 percent in the southern half of the region because of its proximity to adjacent states.

"Even though tourism is behind last year's record pace, many resorts and establishments are enjoying their best years," Ratke said. "The businesses that are doing well are established resorts where customers are assured of value, or those near metropolitan areas."

"Despite the 6 percent overall state tourism drop, vacation interest in Michigan remains high," reported Ratke.

He added that an initial Auto Club "fuel gauge" survey of 300 major-brand stations along main tourist routes for the 78-hour holiday period shows 100 percent open Friday, 98 percent Saturday, 89 percent Sunday and 82 percent Monday. In the Detroit-area, a check of 100 stations shows 99 percent open Friday, 93 percent Saturday, 89 percent Sunday and 69 percent Monday.

CITY OF ROMULUS

CHAPTER 413

AN ORDINANCE TO PROVIDE FOR A SERVICE CHARGE IN LIEU OF TAXES FOR A PROPOSED MULTIPLE FAMILY DWELLING PROJECT FOR PERSONS OF LOW INCOME TO BE FINANCED OR ASSISTED PURSUANT TO THE PROVISIONS OF THE STATE HOUSING DEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY ACT OF 1966 (1966 PA 346, AS AMENDED, MCLA SECTION 125.1401 ET. SEQ., MSA SECTION 116.114 (A))

PREAMBLE

It is acknowledged that it is a proper public purpose of the State of Michigan and its political subdivisions to provide housing for its citizens of low income and to encourage the development of such housing by providing for a service charge in lieu of property taxes in accordance with the State Housing Development Authority Act of 1966 (1966 PA 346, as amended, MCLA Section 125.1401 et. seq., MSA Section 116.114 (1) et. seq.). The City is authorized by said Act to establish or change the service charge to be paid in lieu of taxes by any or all classes of housing exempt from taxation under the Act at any amount it chooses not to exceed the taxes that would be paid but for the Act. It is further acknowledged that such housing for persons of low income is a public necessity, and as the City will be benefitted and improved by such housing, the encouragement of the same by providing certain real estate tax exemption therefor is a valid public purpose; further, that the continuance of the provisions of this Ordinance for tax exemption and the service charge in lieu of taxes during the periods hereinafter contemplated are essential to the determination of economic feasibility of housing developments which are constructed and financed in reliance thereon.

The City acknowledges that NORTH CRANBROOK ASSOCIATES (a Sponsor) on behalf of a Limited Dividend Housing Association to be formed has offered subject to receipt of a Mortgage Loan from the Authority, to erect, own and operate a housing development identified as ROMULUS TOWERS on certain property located at the Northwest corner of Shook Street and Bibbins Avenue, (Specifically identified as Lots 234, 235, 236, 237, 238, 251, 252, 253, 254 and 255; Also that part of Lot 239 described as beginning at the SE corner of Lot 239 and proceeding thence along the S line of said lot, S 88 degrees 04' 15" W, 159.23 to the SW corner of said Lot 239; thence along the W line of Lot 239, N 1 degree 55' 20" W 7.53; thence N 88 degrees 24' 40" E, 32.27; thence S 1 degree 35' 20" E 5.00; thence N 88 degrees 24' 40" E, 127.00 to a point on the E line of said Lot 239; thence along said line, S 1 degree 25' 45" E, 1.59' to the point of beginning; Also that part of Lot 250 described as beginning at the SE corner of Lot 250 and proceeding thence along the S line of said Lot, S 88 degrees 38' 40" W 160.13' to the SW corner of said lot 250; thence along the W line of Lot 250, N 1 degree 30' 35" W, 26.52; thence N 88 degrees 16' 50" E, 106.00; thence S 46 degrees 35' 20" W, 28.11; thence N 88 degrees 24' 40" E, 34.17' to a point on the E line of said Lot 250; thence along said line, S 1 degree 55' 20" E, 7.53; to the point of beginning; Also part of Sterling Street (proposed to be vacated) adjacent to lots 251, 252, 253, 255 and that part of lot 250 above described; All of the above described land being more particularly described as follows beginning at the SE corner of lot 234 and proceeding thence along the N line of Bibbins Avenue (66.00' Wide), S 88 degrees 30' 10" W, 381.97'; thence N 1 degree 30' 35" W, 28.60; thence N 88 degrees 16' 50" E, 122.00; thence S 46 degrees 35' 20" E, 28.11; thence N 88 degrees 24' 40" E, 66.44; thence S 1 degree 35' 20" E, 5.00; thence N 88 degrees 24' 40" E, 127.00; to a point on the W line of Shook St. (66.00' wide); thence along said line, S 1 degree 25' 45" E, 270.59' to the point of beginning, containing 2.4689 acres; All of the above described property being in SUPERVISOR'S ROMULUS PLAT NO. 11 of part of the NW ¼ of Sec 20, T3S, R9E, Romulus Township, (now City of Romulus) Wayne County, Michigan, as recorded in Liber 68, plats, Page 49, Wayne County Records.) in the City to serve persons of low income, and that the Sponsor has offered to pay the City on account of said Development an annual service charge for public services in lieu of all taxes.

THE CITY OF ROMULUS ORDAINS:

SECTION 413-100

Short Title: This Ordinance shall be known and cited as the City Tax Exemption Ordinance.

SECTION 413-200 Definitions

A. Authority means the Michigan State Housing Development Authority.
B. Act means the State Housing Development, Authority Act, being Public Act 346 of 1966, of the State of Michigan, as amended.
C. Contract Rents are as defined by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development in regulations promulgated pursuant to the U.S. Housing Act of 1937, as amended by the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974.

D. Housing Development means a development which contains a significant element of housing for persons of low income and such elements of other housing, commercial, recreational, industrial, communal, and educational facilities as the Authority determines improve the quality of the development as it relates to housing for persons of low income.

E. Elderly Housing Development means a development which provides for elderly citizens of low and moderate income as defined in the Act.

F. Mortgage Loan means a loan to be made by the Authority to the Sponsor for the construction and permanent financing of the Housing Development.

G. Utilities mean fuel, water, sanitary sewer service and/or electrical service which are paid by the Development.

H. Sponsor means persons or entities which have applied to the Authority for a Mortgage Loan to finance a Housing Development.

SECTION 413-300 Class of Housing Developments.
It is hereby determined that the class of Housing Developments to which the tax exemption shall apply and for which a service charge shall be paid in lieu of such taxes shall be Elderly Housing Developments, which are financed or assisted pursuant to the Act. It is further determined that Romulus Towers is of this class.

SECTION 413-400 Establishment of Annual Service Charge.
The Housing Development identified as Romulus Towers and the property on which it shall be constructed shall be exempt from all property taxes from and after the commencement of construction. The City, Acknowledging that the Sponsor and the Authority have established the economic feasibility of the Housing Development in reliance upon the enactment and continuing effect of the Ordinance and the qualification of the Housing Development for exemption from all property taxes and a payment in lieu of taxes as established herein, and in consideration of the Sponsor's offer, subject to receipt of a Mortgage Loan from the authority, to construct, own and operate said Housing Development, hereby agrees to accept payment of an annual service charge shall be equal to Two (2) percent of the difference between Contract Rents actually collected and Utilities for the first fifteen years and Four (4) percent of the difference between Contract Rents actually collected and Utilities thereafter.

SECTION 413-500 Contractual Effect of Ordinance.
Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 15(a) (5) of the Act, to the contrary, a contract between the City and the Sponsor with the Authority as third party beneficiary thereunder, to provide tax exemption and accept payments in lieu thereof as previously described is effected by enactment of this Ordinance.

SECTION 413-600 Payment of Service Charge.
The service charge in lieu of taxes as determined hereunder shall be payable in the same manner as general property taxes are payable to the City except that the annual payment shall be paid on or before April 15 of each year for the immediately preceding year.

SECTION 413-700 Duration.
This Ordinance shall remain in effect and shall not terminate so long as the Mortgage Loan remains outstanding and unpaid or the Authority has any interest in the property provided, that construction of the Housing Development commences within one year from the effective date of this Ordinance.

SECTION 413-800 Severability.
The various sections and provisions of this Ordinance shall be deemed to be severable, and should any section or provision of this Ordinance be declared by any court of competent jurisdiction to be unconstitutional or invalid the same shall not affect the validity of the Ordinance as a whole or any section or provision hereof other than the section or provision so declared to be unconstitutional or invalid.

SECTION 413-900 Validity and Conflicting.
All ordinances or other parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed only to the extent necessary to give this ordinance full and effect.

SECTION 413-1000 Effective Date.
This Ordinance shall become effective upon publication in a newspaper of general circulation or as otherwise provided in the Charter.

I, Leonard J. Folmar, Clerk for the City of Romulus do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of an Ordinance duly adopted by the Romulus City Council on the 14 day of Aug., 1979.

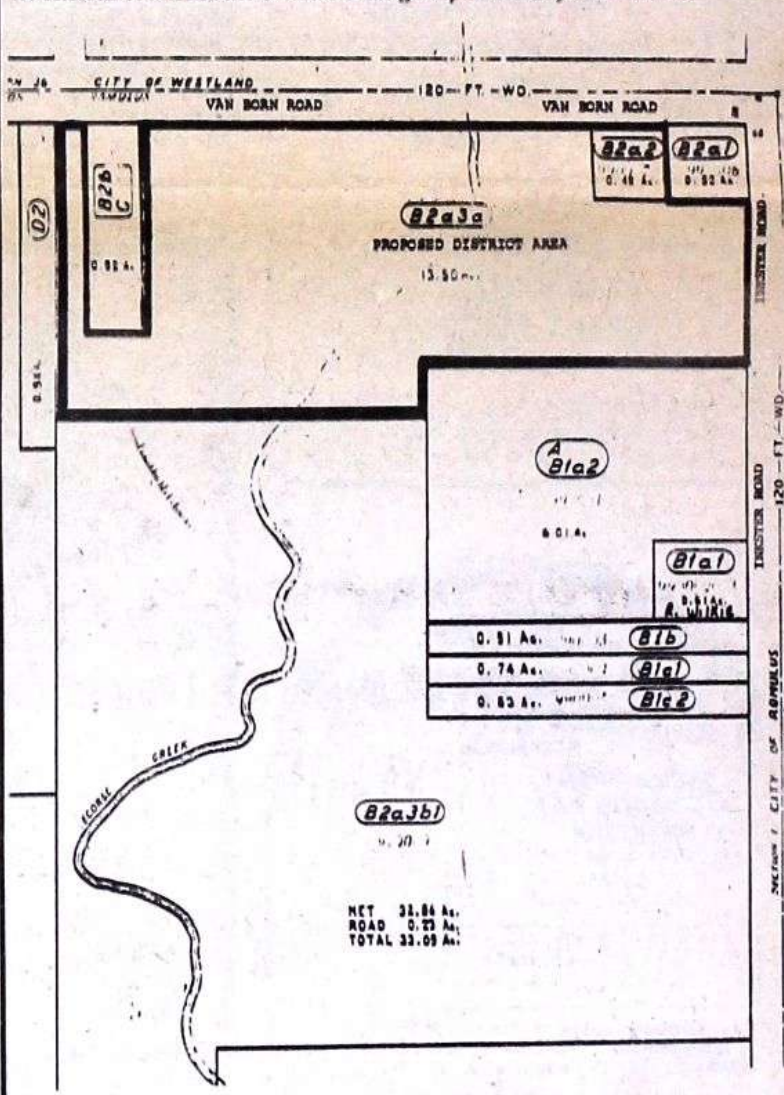

Leonard J. Folmar, Clerk
City of Romulus

WITHIN FORTY FIVE (45) days after the publication of any ordinance duly passed by the Council, a petition may be presented to the Council protesting against such ordinance continuing in effect. Said petition shall contain the text of such ordinance and shall be signed by not less than six (6) percent of the registered electors registered at the last preceding election at which a Mayor of the City was elected. Said ordinance shall thereupon and thereby be suspended from operation and the Council shall immediately reconsider such ordinance.

CHAPTER IV, ARTICLE 1.44

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE OFFICIAL ZONING MAP OF THE CITY OF ROMULUS, BY REZONING A PORTION OF M-1 (LIGHT INDUSTRIAL) TO C-2 (GENERAL BUSINESS)
WHEREAS: The City of Romulus deems it in the best interest of the City and its citizens to amend the Official Zoning Map of the City of Romulus.

As fashion, theatrical designer

Institute's textile galleries feature Erte

A master of display and "dazzlement," fashion and theatrical designer Erte will be the subject of a retrospective at the Detroit Institute of Arts through Oct. 28.

Some 250 gouache paintings, pen and ink drawings and lithographs from 1911 through the 1970s — many from the Art Deco period for which Erte is most famous — will be displayed in the museum's Textile Galleries.

Erte continues to work even now at age 86 and currently is finishing designs for both a Broadway show and a Paris musical. This long and productive career began in 1912 when the 19-year-old Erte left his native Russia to study art in Paris.

By 1913, he was working for the couturier Poiret. Poiret's was then the only couture house to have a workshop specializing in theatrical costume design, and the owner was thought outlandishly theatrical by the Parisian establishment.

Poiret scandalized and revolutionized the fashion scene of the times by doing away with the corset — thereby completely changing the female silhouette and carriage; introducing "jupes culottes," or pant skirts; and using bright colors. In Poiret's fashion house, Erte felt right at home.

Throughout his life, Erte has loved fantasy, elegance, luxurious materials, and all things theatrical. His extravagant costumes have been worn by Mata Hari, Marion Davies, Mistinguett, other celebrities and fashionable women everywhere. His lavish stage sets have been the rage of music halls, cinemas, and opera houses throughout the world — he designed decor and costumes for the Folies Bergere, the Opera de Paris, Diaghilev's ballets, Hollywood movies, George White's Scandals, and the Ziegfield Follies among others. His designs for many years adorned the covers and pages of many fashion magazines, most notably Harper's Bazaar, and exclusive shops in Paris and New York have shown his fashions since the early 1920s.

In addition to fashions, theatrical decor and costumes, Erte has designed accessories such as jewelry, shoes, gloves, umbrellas and fans. He also ventured into the world of interior design with tables, lighting fixtures, shutters, mirrors, cushions and floral arrangements. In the '60s, he made sculpture, which he called "Formes Plastiques," and in the last 20 years he has made prints of his designs.

Designs in the show were lent by the artist and the Grosvenor Gallery, London, England. The exhibition was organized by the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service.

"Erte" is open to the public without charge during regular museum hours — Tuesday through Sunday, 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. (closed Monday and holidays).

"Erte" also will be a highlight of the museum's multi-feature program Wednesday evening, Sept. 12, during the Cultural Center Open House.

Detroit Civic Orchestra sets Monday night series

An 8-concert "Monday Evening Series" of the Detroit Symphony Civic Orchestra will be performed during 1979-80 at Orchestra Hall has been announced by spokesmen for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, the Detroit Symphony Civic Orchestra, and Orchestra Hall. (The Civic Orchestra is the professional training orchestra, sponsored by the DSO.)

DSO managing director Ralph O. Guthrie said: "I have been pleased to discover the quality and the ambitious programming of the Civic Orchestra, and I am sure this new move will enhance the Civic's position as a vital arm of the DSO's training and outreach activities."

The new arrangement also will be beneficial for Orchestra Hall, which will handle ticket sales for the series.

"Not only will we be enabled to present another fine performing group," noted Orchestra Hall executive director Sandor Kallai, "but we will gain another means by which we can attract attention and interest in our expanding activities."

The "Monday Evening Series" will feature the Civic Orchestra's three conductors — DSO assistant conductor Kenneth Jean, DSO Conductor Fellow Michael Krajewski and Raymond Turner.

Ticket information for the series or for individual concerts will be available from Orchestra Hall either by mail — 3711 Woodward, Detroit 48201 — or by calling 833-3700.

The concerts will feature Berlioz's "Corsair" Overture, Bach's Brandenburg Concerto No. 3, Weill's "Three Penny Opera" Suite, Schubert's Symphony No. 9 in C Major, Milhaud's The Creation of the World, Prokofiev's Symphony No. 7, Mendelssohn's Incidental Music to "A Midsummer Night's Dream", Verdi's Overture to "Nabucco" and an March 17 program of Baroque and avant-garde music.

Choir stages benefit

The Michigan Mormon Choir Concert will present its second annual benefit for Orchestra Hall on Sept. 27.

The renowned choral group has performed throughout the state and was selected in 1978 to represent Michigan at a Kennedy Center concert in Washington, D.C., in observance of the Bicentennial Michigan Day.

A special feature of this year's concert will be the appearance of Drs. Reed Nibley and Percy Kait, world famous pianist and violinist, both currently on the faculty of Brigham Young University.

The choir program will consist of a variety of music from Beethoven to Gates and Randall Thompson. The premiere work of "Charisma" by Julia Locke of Livonia will be a program highlight.

The choir is under the direction of Ed Yager of Pleasant Ridge. Tickets for the benefit are available at the Orchestra Hall Box office or by calling 445-7049 for mail orders.

To assure adequate cash flow

Commissioners come up with new money-saving plan

Expressing disappointment with attitudes in Lansing and from union officials on a proposed 4-day work-week, the chairman of the Wayne

County Board of Commissioners is recommending a new package of money-saving techniques to assure adequate cash flow through the end of the fiscal year on Nov. 30 and to eventually eliminate a projected deficit.

Board Chairman Richard E. Manning outlined the new plan on Aug. 24 in a letter to state and county elected officials, chief staff administrators and union officers.

The letter followed a meeting with the State Municipal Finance Commission on Aug. 21 when the county asked permission to borrow $22 million and carry over $6.5 million of its anticipated $19.5 million deficit into next year.

Manning in the letter said that the Finance Commission opted against an immediate decision and that the union position is negative toward contract amendments allowing a reduced work-week.

Manning's new plan is a revised and expanded version of one submitted earlier by him that the board did not act on when it approved the shortened work-week idea.

To deal with immediate cash needs until Nov. 30, the plan calls for deferred payment of the final quarter cost-of-living allowance, pension fund contributions, jail construction tax receipts and some vendor's bills.

For elimination of the entire deficit, "the second phase of a two-pronged problem," he said, Manning asks the courts and other departments headed by elected officials to consider a 3 percent reduction of expenditures through the 1980 fiscal year.

In the final quarter this year and all of 1980, this would amount to a 14 percent reduction of expenses, said Manning. He suggested also that the spending reductions should feature quarterly performance audits and immediate adjustments to achieve the intended goals.

"Such a proposal would, I believe, preserve the independent status of the elected officials and courts, and provide a reasonable and achievable program to eliminate the deficit and control future expenses," Manning said.

Manning stressed that the plan is sketchy and tentative, and proposed a meeting with major suppliers to the county to enlist their cooperation in either deferring collection dates or accepting promissory notes through February.

He also suggested in the letter the possibility of meeting with banking concerns and the county credit union to encourage purchase of vendor notes and alternate financing of cost-of-living allowances to preserve operating cash.

Without some such plan with immediate and innovative steps, the county risks discontinuance of the "vital fundamental services for the 24 million citizens we represent," Manning added.

He emphasized that such an action is necessary because, he said: "Wayne County cannot unilaterally change its form of government...and that such potential change awaits concurrence of the governor, legislature and various other political forces."

Although the plan is tentative until formally approved by the full Board of Commissioners, Manning asked the officials involved who are under jurisdiction of the general fund to defer payment on their own accord in order to maintain payroll obligations during the interim.

Stewart named ANP retail ad manager

A 30-year veteran of the advertising and promotion business has been named retail advertising manager for Associated Newspapers Inc.

Don Stewart, 52, will be in charge of display advertising sales for the six weekly newspapers that comprise Associated Newspapers Inc.

Stewart joined the staff at Associated in April as assistant business manager, until named by ANP publisher David J. Willett to the job.

Actually, Stewart is returning full-circle as he assumes the management post at the Wayne-based newspaper chain. Twenty-two years ago, he worked on the staff of the old Wayne Dispatch.

Since that time, he has worked in sales and management positions on newspapers in Wayne and Oakland counties. His advertising experience includes seven years as executive director of the Michigan Marine Dealers Association, and the position of managing editor for the Weight Watchers publication, "Thin Line."

His first priority is to "maintain the policy of continued high quality service to advertisers and readers" of Western Wayne County, he said.

DON STEWART

Publisher David J. Willett noted that "Don's advertising experience has been and will continue to be a real asset to our sales department, and in turn to the advertisers and readers whom we serve. His experience, coupled with a hard working dedication and fresh outlook, will make him a fine addition to our management team."

Stewart and his wife, Mary, live in Garden City with his two daughters.

Mueller promoted

Logan Daly Mueller, the son of Mrs. Jane Klesch of Lighthouse Drive, Belleville, has been promoted to the rank of sergeant at the Howe Military School Summer Camp.

Logan's promotion was recently announced by camp director William S. Hicks.

Logan, a seventh grader, is attending the accredited camp for his first year. The camp, located near the military school's campus in Howe, Ind., offers athletic, recreational and academic programs for boys 8 through 14 years and credit academic programs in mathematics and English for boys 15 through 17 years.

Editorial opinions

Political signs

Not unlike many area politicians, Romulus' City Council was unable to deal with the thorny problem of eliminating political signs. So instead, Mayor Oakley has been forced to pursue a course of intimidation rather than law to insure the proper use of political signs.

While the scheme hatched in City Hall certainly is better than none, it remains to be seen whether the voluntary pledge to remove political signs following the election is successful.

Let us be misunderstood, we go on the record as being in favor of almost any method that would eliminate the unsightly forest of worn-out political signs which always manage to outlive the candidates themselves.

And since the Romulus council has been either unable or unwilling to effectively deal with their fellow politicians and their campaign signs, we, and thousands of Romulus residents, accept the mayor's program, because there is no alternative.

As covered in a news story last week, this paper will publish a list of candidates who have agreed to sign the pledge to remove their signs following the campaign. We will also publish a list of those candidates who do not.

While we only reluctantly depart our role of informing to turn 'lattle tale,' perhaps the end justifies the means. Good Lord, did we say that!

In any event, we are supporters of a clean campaign and clean neighborhoods.

If our involvement will help accomplish any of those goals, we as usual, stand ready to serve.

Headlee

If the people of Michigan are looking forward to real relief from property tax levies, they are in for a rude awakening.

As the media confidently forecast, lawmakers have taken the teeth out of the Headlee Amendment by implementing legislation riddled with loopholes and loaded with exemptions.

Section 29 of the Headlee Amendment clearly requires that if the state imposes new or increased duties on local governments, the state must pick up the tab for increased local costs. Yet the implementing legislation contains at least 17 loopholes or exemptions by which the state can evade its constitutional responsibilities.

We believe the Headlee Amendment is clear — any state required increase in local activities or services must be paid for by the state. The loopholes of Senate Bill 460, negate this constitutional requirement by exempting state mandates, and this would allow for huge increases in costs which then must be borne by the local taxpayer.

Representatives of the local governmental alliance, including cities, counties, townships, schools, and community colleges are united in concluding that the so-called exemptions — subterfuges for major shifts in the tax burden — violate the clear intent of the Headlee Amendment.

That alliance offered a substitute to the Senate Administration and Rules Committee which conforms to the intent of the Headlee Amendment. However, the Committee chose not to take action on the proposed substitute bill.

While area lawmakers claim 'they got the best they could,' there is little doubt that their best managed only to emasculate the intent of Headlee.

To our readers:

This page in the Associated Newspapers is being made available to the residents of the communities we serve.

Anyone of any age is invited to submit an open letter to their community or to the editor of Associated Newspapers.

We will publish letters on any subject. If you feel you have a plan for solving a city problem, or wish to comment on someone else's plan, this space is being reserved for you.

If you or your group would like to address the community at large, or just an individual, this space is reserved for you.

If you think you can do it better, cheaper, faster, or with more flair, this is the place to tell everyone about it.

You are invited to send your opinions on events, or items of public interest, to the editor of Associated Newspapers, 35540 Michigan Avenue, Wayne 48184.

Names will be withheld from letters published only for very good reason. The reason must be included in the letter.

The editor reserves the right to edit and/or condense letters where necessary.

Associated Newspapers has just given you a public voice. If a story is worth telling to your neighbor, why not tell it to your whole community.

Pre-recess legislation being signed

By EDWARD E. MAHALAK
State Representative
38th District

Bills approved by the Legislature before its summer recess are gradually being signed into law. The new public acts include several which relate to local government. One of the most important is a measure which guarantees the same level of state support for local government.

That new law implements a provision of the tax limitation amendment approved by voters in the November general election.

The provision requires that the share of total state spending paid to local units of government, taken as a group, not be reduced below what was paid in the 1978-79 fiscal year.

Because the amendment also says that the Legislature must implement its provisions, it was necessary to enact law containing provisions for determining the proportion of state aid to local governments, ensuring that the payments are made, and defining the terms of the amendment.

The bill signed into law covers school districts, intermediate school districts, community colleges, cities, counties, townships, villages and local government authorities and political subdivisions.

State spending does not include federal funds used by the state for local government.

The legislation requires the Department of Management and Budget to make the calculation of the percentage of the state budget that goes to local government, based on the 1978-79 fiscal year, and requires appropriations bills approved by the Legislature to include an itemized statement of state spending to local units.

It also creates a local government payment fund into which the Legislature can appropriate money if it appeared additional funds would be necessary to meet required spending levels to local government, but for which specific spending programs were not approved.

The law becomes effective December 31, with the Legislature intending to ask the State Supreme Court in the meantime to issue an advisory opinion on a section of the amendment stating that new programs assumed by the State from local government would still be counted as local program spending.

It is estimated that the share of total state spending that goes to local units if government is just over 40 percent of the budget. Thus, of every dollar (not counting federal money) the state spends in the future, at least 40 cents will have to be paid to local government.

This does not mean that each local government's share of state spending will remain at that level, but rather that overall spending for all local government will continue at the 40 percent level.

Also, analysts predict that a recession could bring about a drastic shift in the way that 40 percent will be divided. A high rate of unemployment, for instance, results in greater pressure on social services, medicaid, mental health and corrections budgets.

Thus, some local programs, possibly such things as education or recreation, would be reduced in favor of other more pressing needs.

A recession could also mean a loss in state revenues. If state revenues go down, the 40 percent share paid to local governments would be worth less.

What the new law does is to guarantee that the share of state spending that goes to local governments will not be reduced, no matter how difficult the state's financial situation should become.

Also related to the tax limitation amendment is another new law which affects local government.

The amendment places limits on local government taxes and spending. This caused a conflict with law which governs municipal bonds for water or sewer systems, specifically those covered by a 1957 law which authorizes local units of government to contract with a county to issue bonds for such public improvements.

Because of this, the Attorney General had instructed the State Municipal Finance Commission to withhold approval of bonds requested under that law because it does not comply with requirements of the tax limitation amendment.

The bill recently signed into a public act would bring the 1957 law into compliance with the tax limitation amendment by giving municipalities the option of pledging tax support for bond obligations within limitations of the amendment or seeking voter approval for taxes outside the constitutional limitation.

Editor's log

Cleopatra, and Public Television

By DENNIS FASSETT
Managing Editor

A vast wasteland indeed!

The person who made that statement could not have been in the audience Saturday evening when Channel 56 presented one of the finest, thought-provoking productions I have yet experienced.

You all remember Channel 56. That's the outfit that holds annual auctions. The outfit that presents 'commercial-free' programming 12 months of the year. The outfit called Public Television that provided training for Ed Rymer's hands.

Well, Channel 56 is also the outfit which provided this area with Steve Allen's brilliant, fantastic, unbelievable, 18-show production of 'Meeting of the Minds.'

Without a doubt, the best television I have ever had the pleasure of participating in.

And participate in it I did.

Like the other extremely fortunate people who watched the presentation, it was programming that made the observer a part of the event. It drew you into the story and made you a part of history. But not the dry textbook sort of history that is taught by tired teachers waiting to retire, but history with real people, real shortcomings, and real regret. People never bigger than life. People who happened to be in a critical situations at critical points in history, who in retrospect, wonder exactly what happened and why.

Refreshing. Enjoyable. An island of excellence in a sea of mediocrity. A tall icy glass of water in a desert.

So exactly what is Allen's "Meeting of the Minds"?

A story about the meeting of four of history's most divergent personalities in 1799, who review their roles in history from a contemporary point of view.

Thomas Paine, Teddy Roosevelt, Cleopatra, and Saint Thomas Aquinas appeared on Saturday's program. The meeting is moderated by Steve Allen and the dialogue exchanged had to be experienced to be appreciated.

Interlarded with each unfolding story, are pointed barbs hurled between the visitors from the past.

To Roosevelt's ghastly horror, Paine reveals that all participants in the American Revolution were not heroes.

While Cleopatra sits in disbelief at the tolerance of democracy for troublemakers, Saint Thomas Aquinas observes that people haven't really changed much.

But it was not the message presented by Allen's production which distinguishes it. It is the fact that it was presented by television at all. Perhaps no other production I have witnessed so graphically demonstrates the value of television.

The power to make history come alive. To offer an examination of history's greatest triumphs and tragedies through the eyes of the people who live them.

While I must concede that I have not been one of WTVS's greatest fans, preferring the crashing of football players to the crashing of symbols, 'Meeting of the Minds' has captured my imagination.

I hope that it has gotten the attention of others also.

When network television daily barrages us with material fit only for the minds desperately seeking escape, public television and WTVS has provided us with an opportunity to once more think.

And through learning how to think, we may all be able to permanently escape.

Can you imagine Tom Paine watching "The Dating Game" or "Secret Squares"? I should say not.

Tom Paine, Teddy Roosevelt, Cleopatra and Saint Thomas Aquinas dealt with reality, not the absurd ramblings of underdeveloped minds.

Reader urges return to contemporary church

Editor:

You can choose not to print this letter but I had to speak out. I know this is an unpopular thing to say but I have to do what I think and know is right.

It has been impressed upon me lately that true Christians are not doing their jobs.

We are sitting idly by while people are dying and going to Hell.

The pure gospel is that Jesus

Christ came to die for lost sinners and all those who believe He died for them personally and repent of their sins will be saved and go to Heaven. Good works, baptism and-or church membership does not save a person.

We do not have love when we do not warn people of God's judgment.

We put in our tithe and make a token appearance at church at Sunday morning and feel that we've done our duty! We have to be faithful in church everytime the doors are opened.

Why is the church catering to the carnality of people by sponsoring secular activities? The church seems to be more interested in getting money than in seeing that people get to Heaven.

Why is the church not preaching Jesus? Jesus is coming back to get the true Christians and after that, it will be too late.

Our country is falling apart because we've left God out. We need to heed II Chronicles 7:14—"If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways, then will I hear from Heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land."

Ask
Carol Premo

By CAROL PREMO, C.S.W.

Carol Premo, a Certified Social Worker in private practice in Belleville, Mich., will be presenting weekly answers to problems which may have been the source of either joy or pain for some of our readers.

You are invited to ask Carol about a problem or discuss a solution by mailing your letter to: Carol Premo, Associated Newspapers, 47818 W. Huron River Drive, Belleville, Mich. 48111.

Dear Carol,

It seems odd to write you a letter like this, but I don't have anyone to turn to. And this is getting worse instead of better. I don't know where to begin — I'm so mixed up.

I am a married woman in my early 50's. My husband had children by someone else that I raised. When we first married we didn't have anything. Both he and I worked very hard doing all kinds of odd jobs so that we could have enough money to buy a beautiful home, and so that he could go into business for himself.

I worked with him until he started talking about how everything was his — even though both the kids and I had worked with him.

Now, all the kids are grown, and I do work during the day. Even so, my husband doesn't want me to have any say around the house. If I asked one of the kids to clean the bathroom or their room, he says "You don't do anything — you clean it!"

I can't even buy the food — I have to eat what they buy and fix. He won't give me any money — he tries to keep every penny out of my hands. He always says that he is always paying the bills — but I do pay some bills out of my little money, and I do pay for my own clothes and doctor bills.

I have both a heart and nervous condition which I have to see a doctor for, plus I recently paid for an operation I had. He says that's nothing — I should pay for more. I said I don't know how I can, since I don't have enough money. I suggested that the kids help pay the bills. They don't have anything to do with their money but throw it away.

All of them are still at home and he doesn't want them to do anything at all. He has put everybody and everything before me.

However, when one of the kids gets sick he wants no part of them. When one of them had a nervous breakdown he wouldn't even visit the hospital. The reason this child is now better is because I went to the hospital every day to let that person know that I was still there. Now he says — "My child this" and "my daughter that."

He always says that he works late, but he doesn't get home till 4 o'clock in the morning. Then he turns on the T.V. and the fan, knowing that I can't sleep because its too noisy and cold. I don't have anywhere to sleep. When he does come early he gets up in the middle of the night, takes a bath, and leaves until the next night. Sometimes he doesn't come home at all.

I just don't know what to think. I'm so tired because I can't sleep at night. He says that I'm crazy. Maybe I am. I have tried to get him to go with me to talk to somebody about us, but he won't. I have tried to be a good wife, but now everything is so mixed up. I have cried until I can't cry anymore. I need help. Please help me.

Needs Help

Dear Needs Help,

It sounds as though you have tried hard to help and cooperate in your marriage. For years you have focused on helping your husband and children meet their needs. Now, they don't seem to need you anymore — you feel unsure of what your role is in their lives, and you feel used. Your sense of your own identity and your self-esteem is not high.

You need someone to talk to who can help you figure out what you want and need to do for yourself as an individual. Since you are the one in pain, you need to seek attention for yourself, rather than divert your energy by trying to convince your husband to seek marriage counseling with you. This would be a first step toward realizing your value as an individual. You have been a wife, mother, a housekeeper, and a worker — but you are a person who is much larger than all those roles put together.

To find a counselor, call Catholic Social Services of Wayne County in Taylor at 292-5690, or Cornerstone Counseling in Romulus at 941-8380.

Dear Carol,

This may sound like a silly problem, but it is really beginning to bother me.

Last summer we built a very nice above ground pool in our backyard. Of course, we encouraged our friends and neighbors to come over and swim.

It seemed like a good idea, but it is turning out to be a very expensive decision. Friends and relatives come over and swim, drink our beer and pop, eat our munchies, and never bring anything. I don't want to sound inhospitable but I cannot afford to supply all the food and drink even if these people are my friends.

How can I politely tell them to chip in and contribute their fair share.

Drowning in Returnables

Dear Drowning,

So much for the axiom "Silence is golden." Don't keep quiet any longer — speak up and tell them that you cannot afford to keep the party store open. If they decide it is too much difficulty and they do not want to do it, you probably will not miss them anyway. Fair is fair, you are supplying the pool and place to party. Most people understand that and won't be upset having it brought to their attention.

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

A physician was fined $500 last week for beating a goose to death on the seventeenth hole of a golf course after the goose had honked, and "screwed up" his putting.

I know a lot of bird lovers must be incensed over the plight of the poor goose.

During my thirty-four years of marriage to a golfer, I am surprised there haven't been more instances of homicide on the putting green, and I have a feeling that the golf partner of that physician was glad it was a goose instead of him.

Now, before I get any letters, I really am sorry for that goose, and I'm sorry someone didn't warn him that honking on the putting green could be a death knell, but for someone who has been living on borrowed time for thirty four years, I still must admit I felt a bit of relief that it happened in Maryland, and to a goose.

But it's funny how many people immediately saw the resemblance to my golfer. My friend Mary Beth called me the minute she heard about it on the radio.

"My gosh," she shrieked. "That wasn't your husband beating that goose to death was it?"

"That was a doctor and he was in Maryland," I told her, "and besides my husband has thrown his putter away."

"Where did he throw it?"

"In the woods."

"How wasteful!" Mary Beth exclaimed. "Well, not really. He saved us money. You see our son had gone out to play golf with him, and on the 18th green my husband stroked his putter to putt the ball to the cup two feet away."

Just then our son scratched his ear ... the putter whacked the ball, and the ball circled the rim of the cup and rolled to the other side of the green. That's when he heaved his putter into the woods.

"What a lack of discipline."

"Oh no, I thought it showed remarkable self control. I think the fine would have been greater if he'd beaten his kid to death."

New Black leadership is needed

By LES KINSOLVING

"BLACK LEADERS SHOCKED" headlined the Washington Star in a roundup of reaction to Andrew Young's resignation.

The Rev. Jesse Jackson, of Chicago's Federally-funded "PUSH Equality" movement, fanned the fires of racial hatred by announcing "a heightened sense of antagonism between blacks and Jews."

Coretta Scott King, widow of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., declared that she is "shocked" because "Andrew Young, more than any other individual, symbolized the administration's commitment to human rights — both at home and around the world."

Indeed he did. In Iran, for example, where drumhead courts martial culminated in firing squads by the hundreds — and women being flogged for adultery — Human Rights Andy identified the man responsible as a "saint."

In the Central African Empire, the Emperor Bokassa I has been charged by an investigating commission of five black African governments with participating in the torture and murder of 100 schoolchildren — one of whom, a nine-year-old boy, had his eyes gouged out by the Emperor himself.

Did you hear Human Rights Andy say anything about this monstrous atrocity? Neither did we.

What we do recall, however, is that ex-ambassador Young, while rarely concerned about massive numbers of blacks butchered by black dictators in Africa, was mightily concerned about the Honorable Charles Diggs, founder of the racially segregated Congressional Black Caucus.

Diggs, who was found guilty of stealing from both the U.S. government as well as from his Congressional staffers, was identified in sworn testimony as "a man you can trust" — by the Honorable Andrew. He was identified as a man whose character is "impeccable" by the Rev. Jesse Jackson. And Diggs was identified by Mrs. King as "a man of great integrity and character."

In the midst of the launching of the Andy Young Martyrdom Scenario, came the Justice Department's announcement that it is suing Diggs for $240,000, in the authorized double damages from the $120,228 which Diggs stole from his staffers.

These Diggs court appearances last October, along with the current chorus of "Black Leaders Shocked," suggests the nation's desperate need for some new black leadership. For these demagogues express no concern whatever about Andrew Young's lying, or about his despicable threatening of the Israelis if they exposed his betrayal of U.S. policy and promise.

They expressed no concern whatever that Young had met with and commended a gang of Palestinian cutthroats who provided a bodyguard for Idi Amin, during his massacre of so many blacks in Uganda.

The conduct of these "black leaders" may serve to convince Presidential candidates that any enlisting of their support can be as costly or lethal as paying bills with the aid of a Mafia loan shark.

The nation's black communities surely deserve leaders of infinitely greater honesty and wisdom. For the demagogues who are currently identified as "black leaders" are the same people who led so many blacks into the 1972 camp of the most badly beaten presidential candidate in American history.

Now, unless there is massive reaction from the black community, these "leaders" will do their best to destroy a Democratic President who put up with far more outrages from Andrew Young than ever should have been tolerated.

Even Walter Mondale — who has been predicted as the 1980 Democratic nominee by both columnist Andrew Greeley and Reagan campaign manager John Sears — can't repair the damage. For last December in Memphis, Fritz told the Democrats mid-term convention that Andrew Young is the "best ambassador in the world today."

If Fritz is the Democratic Phoenix, the "black leaders" will undoubtedly demand that "the world's best ambassador" be made Secretary of State by President Mondale.

32 softball teams eye $2,500 tourney purse

Indiana state champ to invade Westland

Some of the biggest names in local and out-state amateur men's slo-pitch softball will invade Westland next month in hopes of capturing part of the $2,500 offered in prize money.

"We have commitments from more than 32 teams at present, including four from out of state to compete in this tournament," said Bob Goodlow, owner of the Westland Sports Shop. "We're sponsoring this tournament for a couple of reasons." Goodlow pointed out that one of the reasons for the tourney was to offer fans an opportunity to see first-rate Class A talent and, secondly, to raise money to purchase a lighted softball scoreboard for the Jaycees' Park diamond.

The tournament is being called the inaugural Westland Sports Shop Invitational. It is scheduled for Sept. 21.

One of the teams that will be around in the final foursome, according to Goodlow, is O.J. Shumacker, a team that won the Class A state championship in Indiana.

"They will be tough," Goodlow said who went on to say that a team from Waterford which took the Michigan Class A title should also be considered as one of the pre-tourney favorites.

What local team, if any, can fans expect to battle the pre-tournament favorites?

"Well, what we've done is combine two teams - Studio Lounge and our own, Westland Sporting Shop - and made an all-star team. And I sincerely feel we're going to give everyone a run for their money. In fact, I'll go out on a limb and say we're the 'team to beat' in this tournament."

What kind of money can the first place team expect?

Goodlow broke down the purse as follows: First place - $1,200; Second place - $700; Third place - $300; Fourth and Fifth places - $175 each. Goodlow also pointed out that there will be no admission charge for the games which will be held at various parks throughout Westland, "however, we will be selling T-shirts in hopes to raise money to help in purchasing the scoreboard."

"And we plan to do this each year in order to raise money for scoreboards in the city's other parks."

Goodlow said that he will gladly answer any questions about the format of the tournament. Fans or managers can reach him at 326-4773.

Ken's Standard left no doubt in anyone's mind who has the second best team in the Westland Parks and Recreation Blue Division softball league.

Ken's and Jake's Lounge finished the regular season with identical 11-3 records and looked up to undefeated Westland Warriors which captured the championship with a perfect 14-0 mark.

In the duel for second, Ken's ripped Jake's 23-9 to pick up second place accolades. The game was tied at 2-all after two innings, then Ken's took a 5-2 lead in their third, but Jake's stubbornly hung on as it also put three runs on the board in the bottom of the fourth.

Ken's exploded for nine unanswered runs in the sixth and that was the difference.

Corky Hayes was the losing pitcher as he gave up a total of 29 hits - four to Dave Trechler who hit for the cycle. Jim Baigrie hammered a homer, triple and a pair of singles. He also drove in five runs for the winner. Mate Cliff Davidson connected for four hits, three of those were doubles.

Al Pulk got to winning pitcher Bobby Fallow for four hits, including a couple of doubles and Gary Miller had a double and triple. Benny Maggard singled and doubled for the losers.

In the meantime, McCurdy Optical broke a 7-7 tie with a three-run second inning and went on to beat Castelli Realtors 17-11 in a White Division game. McCurdy ended the year with a 6-8 over-all record while Castelli's finished 8-6. Westland Party Store won the league title with an 13-1 record.

Tom Traub sustained the loss. He served up 21 hits, including an over-the-fence homer to Joe Warren who collected four hits and five RBIs. Rich Dittmar wound up with three hits, including a pair of doubles and Ed Spontack socked a couple of singles and a double.

Spontack, the winner, gave up his share of hits. One of the 26 safeties was a homer to Dave Bowen who drove in three runs. Traub and Mark Pimlott split six hits.

Jamies' wasted two over-the-fence roundtrippers by Scott Hare as Hamm's Bears edged their White Division rivals 12-10. Hare had three hits for the game and three RBIs. Jeff Folding and Gary Davis each had two hits for the losers.

Winning hurler Tony Kiersche helped his own cause with four hits, including a triple. Mike McMannon had four singles and David Johns latched on to four hits, one of those a triple. Johns also had four RBIs.

Progressive Metal erupted for seven runs in the first inning en route to a 9-2 victory over All Star Sports and pitcher Gary Swain. Swain was tagged for 14 hits, two each by Bob Cahif, Bill Engle and Dennis Marques.

Mike Dakesian paced the loser's attack as he singled and doubled off of Clayton Rice, the winning pitcher, who also gave up a pair of hits to Phil Parsons while Swain knocked in a run with a double, his lone hit of the day.

The Sports Meridian

The world of roller skating

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

If words paint pictures, then the words "roller derby" conjure up the celluloid by the same name which starred Raquel Welch.

And Ms. Welch paints a beautiful picture. So when Paul Cannon, a millwright for Ford Motor Company, called and said he had a "roller derby story", we were all ears.

Now that I have everyone's attention, let's pause for a commercial.

In order to prevent mayhem in these parts next week when the 1979 high school football season is scheduled to get underway, athletic directors in the area will have to cough up their fall schedules. We're not exaggerating when we say that we can't give teams coverage without the cooperation of the schools. It's a bit eerie around here - with the season less than a week away, we've received only two schedules. Despite the fact the aura in these parts is definitely FOOTBALL.

So, if you're one of those delinquent Ads, please mail or drop off your fall schedule as soon as possible.

Now back to roller skating and the derby.

The pugacious aspect of roller skating derbies is definitely a myth, Cannon assured us.

"They'll blow you right off the floor if they see any flying elbows or anything dirty," he said. "What the movies paint as derby competition is an insult to very hard-working athletes. In fact, roller skating derby competition is so safe that I have my daughter competing in them."

And 12-year-old Tanya Cannon apparently - no, strike that word 'apparently' - she is good. In fact, the Romulus South Junior High student was a member of the four-girl team that recently captured the National Amateur Roller Skating Championship in the 20-lap event.

The small-framed, blond, hazed-eyed roller skater teamed with a cousin, Renee Stone, and two others - Lynn Hernandez and Lesli Colpus to win the top national award in their age group.

"When it came my turn I was nervous," Tanya said, "but you don't have much time to think about anything. You just take off."

Tanya and her teammates beat out a field of six-teams in the finals to pick up the gold plaque. Like most 12-year-olds who suddenly find themselves among the best in the nation in their sport, Tanya has a fierce desire to chase after the ultimate prize - an Olympic medal.

"There'll soon be Olympic competition in roller skating," Mr. Cannon said. "We already have it in the Pan American Games and inevitably it will reach the Olympics. The one hang-up are the Iron Curtain countries who have been interested but haven't mastered the variety of events in this sport."

Meantime Tanya practices. She heads for Brighton three times a week to be tutored by one of the best - Bill Brown, an internationally-known roller skater.

Tanya's grueling conditioning program is supervised by her father who points out that the youngster goes through a routine of jogging, sit-ups, and you name it to stay in shape.

It's good advice for the Pepsi Cola generation who find it difficult to tear themselves away from Ork land and shopping centers.

And though there are great expectations in Tanya's future, there are no false expectations. Here's dad to explain that statement.

"School comes first for my daughter - we're not pushing her into something she doesn't want to do. She loves skating, especially competitively, but we won't let that become all of her life."

But, then, if she should become an Olympic champ...or develop into another Raquel Welch...oh, well...

Because there were more flights than anticipated, some of the golfers didn't receive their trophies during the recently held City Championship Tournament.

Mike Gouin, Canton Parks and Recreation Department supervisor, said yesterday that the trophies have been ordered and expects to receive them any day.

Please contact your recreation department if you haven't receive your trophy. Those who finished in the top three places in each flight were awarded trophies.

Roller skating speed queens

Renee Stone and Tanya Cannon. They turned in the best time for the 20-lap event at the Fort Worth, Texas national tournament. Miss Cannon will be starting South Junior High School in Romulus next week.

Weyands finish 1-2 at Mid-Summer Classic Run

There were 405 finishers in the Mid-Summers' Night Festival Run, and Wayne was represented in that pack.

Sponsored by the Racer's Edge, the course ran 6.1 miles and drew competitors of all ages from across Michigan. The race was held at Addison Oaks Park in Oakland County.

Among the runners were the Thomas A. Weyand family of Wayne. Laura Weyand finished first in the 15-18 women's division with an impressive time of 48:35.2, while Laura's sister, Kathy, was clocked in 44:26.4 which gave her the runner-up accolade.

Kathy was also the third woman to finish the course.

The fastest time in the women's division was turned in by Carol Schenk of Davison who toured the course in 37:41. John Grabowski of Orchard Lake topped the men's division with a time of 33:24.

Young Andy Litz of Clio, age 8, came through with an outstanding 54:44 performance. He was one of two runners who entered the 8-and-under division.

Laura and Kathy were not the only Weyands in the meet. Their parents also competed and Carol ran a respectable fourth in the 39-45 division, completing the course in 60:34.5.

Tom Weyand, who recently announced his candidacy for the Wayne City Council, showed he can handle distances. He finished the race 11th in the 46-55 men's division, showing up in 56:02.9.

Humm. Seems that Tom's time is slower than the gals'. Wonder if that means anything?

'Globetrotters'

Local grapplers tour Europe

A group of young wrestlers coached by a former All-Area grappler got a taste of international competition recently and the consensus?

It was fantastic. "First class all the way," said Don Turney, an ex-All-Area wrestler from Belleville High, "that's what it was. They treated us like royalty."

Turney was responsible for the AAU-sponsored team that traveled to West Germany, Luxemburg, Holland and Belgium.

"We got to wrestle against different clubs in all of these countries and, though the kids were going head-on with wrestlers much older than they were, we held our own."

Turney explained that European countries don't have the equivalent of high school competition and most young wrestlers must join athletic clubs in order to develop their wrestling skills.

"I feel we have far superior programs than they do over there, however we lost a couple of matches because we were wrestling older athletes. Our group consisted of wrestlers up to 18 years old."

The AAU contingent included Westland John Glenn's Pete Bologna, Ken Hodges and New Baltimore's Joe McCarthy.

The trip was financed through donations from local businesses and several fund-raising projects such as cake sales.

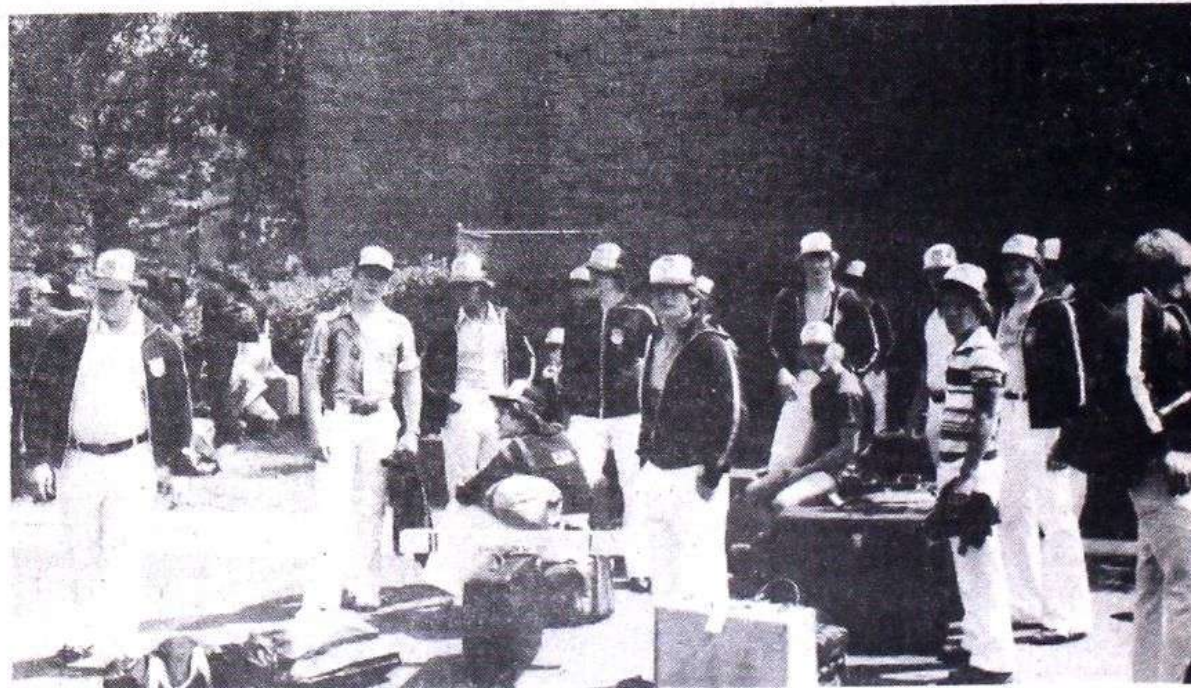

While in Europe the young athletes were housed in private homes. They received a first hand view of what life on the continent looks like.

Turney, 25, wrestled in Western Michigan University's intramural programs but didn't compete in varsity competition. He is a biology major.

"We got this group together a month before we made the trip, and I would like to say this much for the kids - they are not only a fine group of athletes but they also showed themselves to be outstanding ambassadors - we're really proud at what we accomplished not only on the mats but in our people-to-people talks."

"I know I'm speaking for everyone who made the trip - the people over there treated us as if we were Olympic champs or something."

...If it's Monday, it must be Belgium...

Men's doubles line-up

Though they were on the same team in high school, ex-John Glenn tennis stars Chris Kaczor (from left), Dave Terwilliger, Gary Whited and Pat McBride found themselves on opposite sides of the net during the men's doubles competition. Kaczor and Terwilliger had just too much for the Whited-McBride team and won the Wayne Recreation Summer Tennis title in their division.

Double trouble

Best boys' doubles team

When the pressure was on Bob Bolish and Keith Farley (from left) managed to handle it and their rivals Joe Bledsoe and Dean Reichard to claim the boys' doubles championship. Bolish and Farley swept the title in two sets and their rivals were forced to settle for the runner-up awards.

Nice going

Wayne Parks and Recreation Tennis Director Larry Wood offers congratulations and the first place trophy to Sarah Halfacre (on right) after Ms. Halfacre defeated Myra Palmateer in the finals of the women's singles competition to win the Summer Tennis Tourney crown.

100 area netters compete in summer tourney

Each knew the other's style—his strong and weak points and when the four former Westland John Glenn tennis stars reached the finals of the men's doubles championships they knew that there would be a battle. Chris Kaczor and Dave Terwilliger were on one side of the net while their opponents, Gary Whited and Pat McBride, were on the other. Their goal was to win the Wayne Parks and Recreation men's double title.

Father & son combination leads WAOA to playoff title

With the father and son hitting and fielding combination of George and Dave Gillies, WAOA edged archival, Post Office, to pick up its second championship trophy in the Westland Parks and Recreation Community Organization men's softball league. WAOA captured the regular season title with a game to spare over Post Office, then beat the league runner-up twice in the playoff series for second title of the 1979 campaign. Post Office held a 2-1 lead after the first inning in the playoffs, but a 6-run WAOA outburst in the fourth lifted the champs into the driver's seat, 7-2. The losers refused to quit. After exchanging a run in the fifth matched, but Kaczor and Terwilliger just had too much going for them in the finals." Whited and McBride found themselves in trouble in the first set when they fell behind and lost 6-2. Then Kaczor and Terwilliger polished off their former teammates with a superbly played second set, winning it and the title, 6-4.

In the women's single competition, Sarah Halfacre emerged with a 6-3 and 7-5 victory over Myra Palmateer to claim the first place championship.

In the meantime, Caye Martel and Carol Sotala reached the finals of the women's doubles where they met and defeated Cathy Hayes and Bea Hoover in a couple of 6-4 sets. All four tennis players are members of the Wayne Women's World Tennis League.

Terwilliger picked up his second trophy by winning the men's single division. He had to sweat, however, as Bob Slebockich launched the attack with a 6-1 victory. Slebockich failed to keep the pressure on his opponent who rallied back and won the second set 6-1, then trounced Slebockich in the decisive game 6-1.

Glenn was also represented in the winner's circle in the junior competition. Bob Bolish and Keith Farley are teammates at Glenn but were on the opposite side of the nets in the boys' singles championship. Bolish beat his school buddy in two sets 6-3 and 6-2.

In the boys doubles however, Bolish and Farley teamed up and conquered Joe Bledsoe and Dean Reichard.

With 6-1 and 6-4 victories over Debbie Gorshek, Marnie Dillow became the tournament girls' singles' champion.

The Aces, with a line-up of Jean Garbus, Myra Palmateer, Cathy Hayes, Janet Richardson and Ann Schulthies, finished the Wayne Women's World Tennis League with the first place trophy.

In the singles, Ms. Sotala downed Audrey Gasdorf to earn the crown. The Wayne Students' League, 16 players strong, managed to represent the city against nearby municipal leagues.

Finally, in the midsummer tournament, Craig Malkowski and Bob Nawrocki disposed of Norm Hoover and Dave Dillon to win the men's double championship.

Need those schedules

With the football season creeping up as fast as an avalanche, the Associated Newspapers' Sports Department would like to remind area high school athletic directors to please mail or drop off the fall schedules as soon as possible. The 1979 football season will get underway on Sept. 7 for most of the area teams. Cross country teams also are scheduled to see action that first week in September. The ANP sports staff will cover the following schools during the 1979-80 school year: Belleville, Romulus, New Boston Huron, Wayne Memorial, Westland John Glenn, Livonia Franklin, Livonia Churchill, Plymouth Salem, Plymouth Canton, Cherry Hill, Inkster and Dearborn Heights Robichaud.

If there is a coaching switch, AD's are urged also to include the new head coach's HOME TELEPHONE number.

race set

If you want to learn whether your jogging is paying off, the Wayne Annual Homecoming Festival has a test fashioned for long-distance runners.

On Friday, Sept. 9, Wayne will stage its annual 10,000 meter run which will get underway at 10 a.m. The marathon is in conjunction with the Fall Festival scheduled for four-days, beginning Sept. 6.

Men and women are welcomed to compete in the race and all participants will receive a T-Shirt. There is however a $4 registration fee. Runners may sign up at the 'big tent' on Wayne Rd. and Michigan Ave. Wayne State Theatre, 35310 Michigan Ave. is the starting point. Further information may be obtained by telephoning 722-2000.

Go, North, Go!

Belleville North Junior High School cheerleaders returned from the United States Cheerleaders' Association camps with a dazzling trophy, and hope that their over-all performance will set the pace for their athletic teams this year. Coach Kim LaMothe's team also qualified for the National Grand Championships which will be held in Lansing. Pictured above with the

What they hope will be a symbol that their athletic teams will rally around, Belleville North Junior High School cheerleaders returned recently from the United States Cheerleaders' Association camp with a first place trophy. The girls were among 252 varsity, junior varsity, and junior high school cheerleaders from across the state and Ohio who took part in the USCA sponsored camp held for four days at the University of Michigan. North was awarded a "Team Improvement Award" and also collected four second place ribbons competing against junior high school teams that took part in the competitions. "The TIA award is a significant and important one," said North coach Kim LaMothe, "because one of the major goals of a cheerleaders' camp is to learn and to improve." The award also qualified North to take part in the camp's National

10,000 hunters seek duck-calling honors

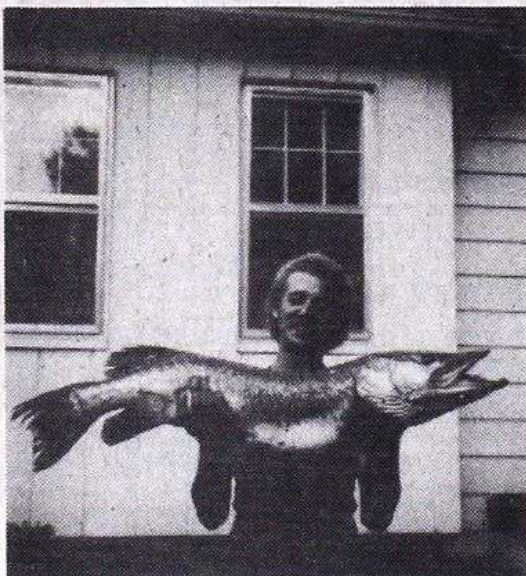

The 32nd annual Michigan Duck Hunters' Tournament and Midwest Decoy Contest is expected to attract more than 10,000 duck hunters when competitions are staged Sept. 16 at Pointe Mouille State Game Area. Pointe Mouille is located on the Huron River in Wayne County, east of I-75 Expressway. The tournament will demand from its competitors the use of skills of waterfowling, marsh hunting duck calling, sneak shooting, using sneak boat and utilizing some 60 decoys. Layout boat hunting, surrounded by decoy will also come into play. Entries must register before 10 a.m. for the water events, while marsh contestants, using duck boats with attached blinds, must set out 15 decoys which will be furnished. There will also be duckboat row racing in both men and boys' divisions over a half-mile course. The Michigan Duck Calling Championship for adults, 14 years old and up, will include hunters from Canada and the United States. Registration will close at 1:30 p.m., and competition will get underway at 2 p.m. The winner will be eligible to enter the World Duck Calling Championship Contest, held in Stuttgart, Arkansas. There is also a Junior World Championship and

Angler hooks 22 lb muskie in Belleville Lake

It took him 35 minutes to haul in, but Canton's Dennis Kolehmainen isn't complaining - he's rightfully bragging about the 22 pound, 6 ounce Tiger Muskie he hauled out of Belleville Lake the other day. There'll be fish steak on the Kolehmainen menu for quite some time, you can bet on that. Kolehmainen and his fishing partner James Woolford of Westland were cruising along on a sunny afternoon, Dennis relates, when the muskie struck. "For a moment there I didn't know what I had," Kolehmainen said, "and when I saw it I just couldn't believe it." Kolehmainen said he used a "rostartail size No. 2" lure. He also utilized an 8-pound test line. The Muskie, 42 inches long, is the biggest fish known to be have taken from Belleville Lake, according to a spokesman from the Institute of Fisheries in Ann Arbor. The huge catch also qualified Kolehmainen for the Master Angler Award, presented by the Department of Natural Resources.

Burghuff is Class A champ

It went right down to the last inning. And two-time playoff champ, Burghuff Bar, refused to roll over and die for Hof-Brau. Instead, in that top of the seventh, the defending champs exploded for six runs and pulled out a 12-8 victory. The crucial triumph sealed for the third year in a row the Wayne Parks and Recreation's Class A men's slo-pitch championship for the winners. Ron "Corky" Hays came up with the key hit - a two-run triple in the seventh which settled the issue. Hays had three hits off of two Hof Brau pitchers, Larry Quartuccio and Dennis "Bumpy" Cowell. Joe Kadlec, who worked all seven innings for Burghuff, collected the win. He gave up 13 hits and walked two.

In an earlier confrontation between these two rivals, Burghuff slammed out 21 hits en route to a 19-12 victory over Cowell who pitched six innings, gave up all 19 hits, including a homer to Dave Conlin. Conlin finished the night with four hits and three RBIs and Kadlec helped his cause with a single and triple, also good for three runs batted in.

Meanwhile, Pittman's proved it is the best of the Class B bunch as the playoff champs knocked off Rod Ruddy 5-2 and ATI 11-5 to get a shot at lofty Burghuff for the city championship.

Ted Rize and Gray Mason combined their pitching talents to beat the tough Rod Ruddy crew which collected a total of eight hits, one less than the champs. Mason helped his cause with three of his team's nine hits, belting a triple and a pair of singles. He also collected three, two of them doubles, off of ATI pitcher Paul Young. Young found himself in trouble in the second inning when he gave up three runs and forced his teammates to play catch up the rest of the way.

Mark Lipinski chipped in with three hits, two of those going for doubles, to help the champs.

The Pirates and ATI played a couple of cliffhangers to decide the men's Class C championship. ATI held off the Pirates in the last inning and won a 7-6 thriller and the championship. The Pirates scored three times in that last inning to tie it up at 6-all, but in the bottom of the seventh, ATI put the winning run on the board.

Young was credited with the victory. He tossed an 11-hitter, giving up a homer and single to Mike Laurian who knocked in three runs. Jim Kelly also produced three RBIs thanks to a pair of singles. Bill Wilson worked the first five innings, gave up six runs and two hits while Mike Law took over for the final two frames and was charged with the loss. The Pirates stunned and startled ATI in an earlier playoff game and scored nine times to edge the champs 11-10, forcing the extra game. Mike Cieliezki belted a single and triple while Mike Sharp and two hits off of Young who was charged with the loss. Mike Law, the winner, served up three singles to Laurian who accounted for three of the ARI runs batted in.

Steinhauer captures U.S. Water Skiing championship

At the age of 13, Marty Steinhauer owns the coveted title of a national champion.

The young athlete captured the prestigious National Water Ski Championship in his age group during competitions recently staged in Ducoin, Illinois.

"I was nervous, but I felt I could win," said Steinhauer who was runner-up nationally a year ago and was determined to win it this year. "It's a goal you strive for and now I'll be moving up to a tougher bracket because I'll be 14 next year."

Steinhauer finished first in the slalom competition, an event which requires the competitor to circle several strategically placed balls in the water. Each contestant rounds these series of bouys at increasing speeds up to 34 miles per hour and then executes the maneuvers while the towline is shortened creating difficulty until one either misses or falls.

Steinhauer established a record in the jumping event as he cleared 107 feet, eclipsing the old mark by one foot. The skier here is given three attempts to go over the jump where the criteria for winning is distance attained. The jump is an inclined plane of 14 feet wide and 24 feet long which is 5 feet off the water at the end.

In trick skiing, Marty had his problems. He missed making a clean sweep of all three events when he claimed a fifth place in this exercise. Here, the skier is allowed two passes through the course of 20 seconds each and performs as many tricks as possible all of which have prescribed point values.

"My goal since last September had been to place first in over-all competition in the national championships," Steinhauer said, "and, believe me, I worked hard and I guess I was a little lucky, too."

Long a nationally recognized water skier, Marty had been seeded first in both the slalom and jumping events. He confirmed the seeding committee's confidence in him by placing first in these two events. He finished fifth in the trick event to top his first over-all National Championships.

Marty paved the way to the United States title by placing first in all three events at the state championships held in July at Brighton. He was first in all three events in the Midwest Regional Championships staged in Minneapolis in early August, the first Michigan skier to bring home the over-all championship.

Steinhauer was runner-up to a Californian a year ago.

Quiet and confident, Steinhauer is just one of five children in the family who enjoy water skiing. Brother Phillip, 19, David, 12, Matthew, 10, and sister Krystn, 16, are highly-touted and respected tournament skiers.

With the exception of Phillip, who sat out last year with a leg in a cast after a skiing accident, all have brought home many trophies for their achievements on the water skiing circuit.

Though Marty will move on to an older age division next year, younger brother, David, should continue the Steinhauer dynasty as serious contenders for national honors.

No one would be surprised if David inherited his brother's crown in 1980.

Zigzagging to national title

Top-seeded in the slalom, Marty Steinhauer lived up to expectations by winning the gold medal nationally in the event, then went on to master the jumping event and pulled down enough points to capture the U.S. Ski Championship crown during competitions held in Illinois.

Marty may have started a dynasty. Younger brother, David, 12, is expected to be a strong competitor for national accolades a year from now. David finished fifth nationally in the slalom.

The Post Office broke a 2-2 tie with a six-run fourth inning and went on to destroy the Dads Club 26-5 in their lone meeting with the dads in the playoffs. Orr chalked up the victory, getting a hefty 32-hit barrage support from his teammates which included homers by Gordie Smith and Terry Martin. Smith finished the day with four hits and four RBIs. Martin also had four hits and five runs batted in. Jim Tromeur's contribution to the winning cause included four singles and a double off of loser Hank Blair.

Orr was tagged for a single, double and triple by Tim Kolnitys, while Mike Moore had a pair of hits and Norm swope singled and doubled.

Post Office also didn't have any trouble from the Gold Chips who dropped a 12-4 decision to the runners-up.

Close for five innings, the Post Office sealed the victory with a seven-run spree in the sixth to pull away from a 5-2 score.

Bostwick tripled and singled and drove in three runs off of loser, Mike Kehrer, who delivered two hits each to Bob Thaxton and Jim Tromeur.

Orr again was the winner. He yielded 10 hits, including three to Tim Connors and two singles to Stu Bradke. John Sparks's single drove in two runs for Gold Chips.

The top four teams in the league qualified for the post-season playoffs which were staged on the Jaycee Park diamonds during the past two weeks. The playoffs bring the curtains down to the 1979 Westland Parks and Recreation's adult softball league.

the local winner will qualify for that tournament. The junior division is open to callers 13 years and under.

Applications will be processed and certified by the Duck calling contest judges: George Kadar, Louis Zelenak, Dick Whitwam, Ron Gorski and Pete Rebe.

The Pointe Mouillee Shooting facility in Winchester South will stage the Mud Hen Shoot for adults and junior on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 15-16.

There will be a swap and sell session of decoys, carvings and other collectors items between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., Sept. 14 at the Holiday Inn, Dixie Highway at I-75 in Monroe.

Myers wheels to Flat Rock victory

Flat Rock Speedway hosted the 6th Annual Howard Williams Memorial Race Saturday night before a fine crowd that saw some excellent racing in the competing divisions.

Conan "Moose" Myers of Butler, Indiana came up with the win in the 79 lap ARCA National Championship Stock car feature. Myers got by Marv Smith, and sailed to the win. Bob Dotter of Chicago, Illinois was second, Delmar Clark of Gnadenhutten, Ohio third, Bill Green of Ft. Mitchell, Kentucky fourth, and Jack Wallace of Clarksville, Indiana fifth.

Marv Smith of Columbus, Ohio set a track record in time trials for the Daytona type cars with a 12:76. Myers won the dash and set a record for 4 laps at 52:74. Steve Ellis of Knightstown, Indiana, and Marv Smith captured heat wins.

The 50 lap Late Model feature saw many incidents occur that delighted the crowd. Dick Barker and Mike Eddy both broke in practice. Barker stepped into L.T. Loeher's car and set fast time at 12:41. The Fraser native started on the pole and led the race for 30 laps as the top 8 cars ran nose to tail in and out of traffic. At lap 30, Jim Terrill of Midland, Michigan sped to the outside and went on to win the event. John Anderson of Massillon, Ohio made his first appearance of the season and finished second. Barker was third, Joy Fair of Pontiac, Michigan fourth, and Larry Knowlton of Kalamazoo, Michigan fifth.

Danny Byrd of Dearborn Heights, Michigan won the dash. Ed Cooper of Clark Lake, Michigan, Ed Hage of Ypsilanti, Michigan, and Mike Bolick of Westland, Michigan were heat winners. Mel Gillette of Howell, Michigan won the pursuit, and Tommy Webb of Westland took the consolation.

Drury Ramsey of Detroit captured the 20 lap Figure 8 feature win over Dave Miller of Dearborn Heights, Ed Briggs of Belleville, Michigan, Chuck Hall of Toledo, Ohio, and Billy Simmons of Plymouth, Michigan.

Miller set fast time at 14:04. The dash victor was Gary Early of Rockwood, Michigan. Al Grinde of Algonac, Michigan and Darrell Childress of Toledo took heat wins. Bill Leach of Ecorse, Michigan claimed pursuit honors.

Jim Bentley of Belleville won the 15 lap Street Stock feature over Mark Fair of Pontiac, Rick Bundon of Canton, Michigan, Steve Croenewett, of Livonia, Michigan, and John Wyman of Carleton, Michigan.

The B feature was won by Link Bundon of Ypsilanti over Jim Selmi and Norm Vader. Larry Duncan won the consolation.

Next Saturday night at Flat Rock Speedway will be Season Championship night for the Late Models. A 50 lap feature will be on tap, with full program of Figure 8's, and Street Stocks also to be run.

On Saturday September 8, the Figure 8's and Street Stocks will have their Season Championships. A big Demolition Derby is also slated for Saturday September 8.

Time trials begin at 6:30 and racing at 8:00 p.m. Flat Rock Speedway is located 1 mile south of Flat Rock, Michigan on Telegraph Road (U.S. 24).

Chicken-Rice Salad, muffins

Start with rice as the basis for an entree, and at once it has a lot going for it. A popular staple, it has wonderful ways with a variety of foods and it's natural for stretching the budget.

No reason to stick to tradition when you serve rice chilled as in this delicious Chicken Rice Salad. It's tender, fluffy rice combined with chicken and fruit for lots of good tastes and textures, and a substantial seasonal entree. Made with Minute rice, the method is quick, easy and virtually foolproof; it can be prepared early in the day and chilled till ready to eat. Serve with warm Orange Crunch Muffins for a tasty accompaniment.

Chicken-Rice Salad

2 teaspoons salt
Dash of pepper
1-1/2 cups packaged enriched pre-cooked rice
1 cup mayonnaise
1-1/2 cups diced red apples
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 cups diced cooked chicken
1 cup diced celery
1 cup seedless green grapes

Bring water, salt and pepper to a boil in saucepan. Stir in rice. Cover; remove from heat and let stand 5 minutes. Blend in mayonnaise. Mix apples with lemon juice. Stir into rice mixture with remaining ingredients. Chill. Makes about 6 cups or 4 to 6 servings.

Note: For more moist salad, stir in 1 to 2 tablespoons milk before serving.

Orange Crunch Muffins

1/4 cup sugar
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
1/4 teaspoon (about) water
1-one-third cups unsifted all-purpose flour
3 tablespoons sugar
3 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 egg, well beaten
1 cup milk
3 tablespoons butter or other shortening, melted
3/4 cup crunchy nutlike cereal nuggets
Combine 1/4 cup sugar, the orange rind and water to make crumbly mixture.
Mix flour with 3 tablespoons sugar, the baking powder and salt. Combine egg and milk; add to flour mixture with shortening. Mix only enough to moisten flour. Fold in cereal. Fill greased muffin pans about two-thirds full. Sprinkle with sugar mixture. Bake at 400 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes, or until golden brown. Makes 9 large or 12 medium muffins.

BY LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

Remember my mentioning what a disappointment I was to my mother where fancywork and other things done with those dangerous weapons — needles — were concerned?

Well, she'd have been delighted and proud to know that her first grandchild, MY eldest, was blessed with a few of her creative genes when that pre-birth scramble was made. And were she still with us she'd be applauding the beautiful needlepoint our daughter is turning out in between her housewifely-motherly-scholarly tasks.

The newest addition to one wall grouping in her little son's room is a rectangular framed work with the wording "Matt's room" carefully stitched in yellows, blues, pinks and whites.

Then there's the lovely picture she belatedly completed as a birthday present for her sister's new apartment. Picking up the colors of her couch and carpeting, it bears a delicate Oriental flavor and, when outlined by the bamboo frame she plans to make, it will be a lovely addition to Sue's new place as well as a great conversation piece.... "My SISTER made it!"

Still another of her works — a tedious and intricate print — hangs in her dad's office and is something he's particularly pleased with, since it carries out the theme of his work. An enlarged replica of a postage stamp, it's a needlepoint version of the old 24 cent upside down airmail — a misprint — the original of which is a rare collector's item.

Like her grandmother, Lu finds "that" type of pastime (crawling work included) most relaxing and rewarding.

Most TV commercials, I think we'd agree, are asinine, inane and downright insulting to our intelligence. BUT, there are two companies whose advertisers really give them class and when they're picking up the tab for a special, I never, never leave the room.

One is the Hallmark Company which manages to get its messages across in a most delightful manner and the other is Kraft Foods and its many good cooking, eating and serving ideas.

BUT — as much as I enjoy Kraft's television offerings is just how much I detest its radio blurbs. I have HAD it with the Kraft macaroni and cheese "testimonials" from all those good ole down-homes types who about froth at the mouth extolling the goodness of Kraft dinner.

Testimonials of any sort, because they try SO hard to make them sound like Mr. and Mrs. Average American, are obnoxious, irritating and farcical (and doubly so — when aired back-to-back on WJR.) And because they ARE so downright stupid, I never fail to wonder just why ad agencies keep bombarding us with that boring style! (I also happen to HATE Kraft dinner....)

If perchance, like yours truly, you're a novice in the school of micro-wave ovenry, you might appreciate a few helpful hints which came our way from the Microwave Cooking Center in San Francisco. When tackling that little darling, take into consideration:

POWER FLUCTUATIONS: Throughout the day, cooking times in your microwave oven will vary directly with the fluctuating current coming into your house. Less electrical energy means longer cooking times. Learn to adjust recipes accordingly. Always be sure to note different times in recipe margins for future use.

RESIDUAL COOKING: Be sure to allow standing time after cooking. (This is something I wasn't aware of... but then, I'm the worst gal alive for reading instructions.) Frozen vegetables will be very crisp when cooking time is finished and will become tender crisp while standing. Remember this rule of thumb: cook 80 percent done in the microwave, cook 20 percent at the table.

MIND THE MINUTES: Watch the cooking times carefully and follow these suggestions as to density, shape, weight and seasoning. You'll never have to stir, rotate the pan or peek in the microwave oven again.

FOOD PLACEMENT: To insure proper cooking of vegetables like asparagus or broccoli that have thick, delicate, porous tops and dense stems, place stems in an outer ring near the outside perimeter of the dish and tops in the center of the dish.

WEIGHT: The more vegetables, the longer the cooking time. Learn to cook by weight. The rule of thumb for frozen vegetables is 5 minutes per pound. But remember the porous vegetables and those with more water will take less time. For example, frozen cauliflower will take less time to cook than frozen lima beans.

SHAPE: Uneven shapes cause uneven cooking times. For instance, the thin end of a carrot will cook faster than the thick end of the carrot. For best results cook uniformly shaped and sized vegetables. Cut them up if you must.

HOLD THE SALT: Never add salt to food. Microcooking brings out the natural salt in any food. Don't take a chance on getting stringy frozen vegetables when you can have a tender crisp texture.

Despite the fact the calendar says summer's not over until mid-September, we all know (and feel in the air) that Labor Day is the real cut-off time for all those play days.

Closing the book on another August (summer) means at our house: CHECKING out the tomato plants for the annual session with the food grinder and canning equipment. And — finding only a smidgen of the usual prolific crop stunted by a crazy ripening season... THINKING about the upcoming cozy blazes in the fireplace and getting a line on firewood (BG and two new neighbors setting up a date for clearing a nearby bit of acreage)... LAST of the summer activities and trying to spread ourselves thin enough to take part in all of them... GRABBING at every nice day for a few more holes of golf and determining (once again) to lower that handicap... SHARING a delightful day with Carol in Toledo, collecting all those last-minute supplies for college, checking out the new fall fashions and taking time for a chatty lunch together at a cute new spot... LOOKING forward to serving with the local hospital auxiliary which enlisted me for a bit of volunteer work this fall... TAKING a long weekend in Evanston for a 3-months look at you-know-who and seeing a bit of the Windy City's attractions for a change.

JUST IN CASE YOU WONDERED — The expression "easy as pie" comes from the fact that medieval matrons and that bustling bird, the magpie, had something in common. Both enjoyed making fillings! For the magpie likes to fill her nest with any interesting objects she discovers lying around... and 14th century English housewives took their cue from her. So they thriftilly mixed together leftover bits of meat and other foods, covered the collection with a crust, cooked it, and called the tasty result "pie" — in honor of the magpie! This hearty treat has been a standard favorite ever since because it's not only economical but so simple to prepare that "pie" has slipped into our vocabulary as a synonym for "easy". For more than half a century, "easy as pie" has been a triumphant expression for something that's a breeze to accomplish. (And when the "pie" is "in the sky", it's the ultimate!)

THE BOTTOM LINE: Don't worry about avoiding temptation — as you grow older, it starts avoiding you.

Summer reading program ends with library party, parade

Colorful costumes, exotic dancers and a parade up to Main Street were the highlights of the party that capped off the annual Summer Reading Program at the Belleville Public Library.

The theme for this year's program was "International Year of the Child - Around the World with Books." The program which began June 11 was for school children grades two through nine. Over the summer, they were required to read a minimum of 10 books, at least one of which had to be about a foreign country. Plus they were required to give one oral report.

For every two books read, the children were allowed to put their names on the enormous globe which decorated the library's back wall. In further recognition of their efforts, a certificate of achievement will be presented to each child who fulfilled the program requirements. These certificates will be sent out during the month of September to the various schools, there to be presented to the children.

And, of course, there was the party. This year it was held Aug. 16 at the library with more than 60 children attending. They wore costumes representing the native dress of many lands which they had made the previous week at a costume workshop at the library.

At the party, which also was attended by Belleville Mayor and Mrs. Justin Emerson, the librarian, Mrs.

Helen McCluskey, explained the program and its purpose. Mrs. Phelix Hanible, the children's librarian, then read a story, "The Seventh Mandarin," after which came the high point of the program. Ms. Catalina Hall and company, Shoshanna, Natalie and Ari, presented a joyous display of Middle Eastern dancing and explained the significance of dancing as it relates to children.

The program ended with a rousing rendition of the folk song, "If I Had a Hammer" with Ms. Jennifer Henning providing guitar accompaniment. The children sang this song as they paraded around the block before enjoying refreshments on the library patio.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN E. DOHERTY

John Doherty, Lori Wilson married at Methodist Church

The First United Methodist Church of Belleville was the setting Aug. 11 for the afternoon ceremony which joined Lori A. Wilson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Wilson of 4230 Lenmoore Rd., Belleville, and John E. Doherty of Westland in holy matrimony.

The Rev. Joy Arthur presided at the double ring rite at 12:30 p.m. before some 90 assembled relatives and friends.

Given in marriage by her father, Lori appeared in a gown of white, satin and lace designed with a high neckline, long lace sleeves and a chapel train banded in matching lace.

A headpiece of pearls and lace secured her elbow-length veil and a bouquet of cascading white carnations, yellow roses and blue forget-me-nots completed her bridal finery.

As her sister's matron of honor, Mrs. Robin Merkel donned a blue floor-length frock fashioned with a halter bodice and blue lace jacket. The bouquet she held was comprised of yellow roses, blue forget-me-nots and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids in identical outfits were Darlene Leonard and Leslie Dyer, both friends from Belleville.

Youngsters in the wedding party included 9-year-old Maria Webb as flowergirl and 4-year-old Jeremy Pringle as ringbearer. Maria wore a full-length white dress and carried a basket filled with yellow roses, baby's breath and blue forget-me-nots.

The duties of best man were performed by Bobby Denyes of Westland. Groomsmen were Dave Doherty of Southgate and Johnny Wilson of Belleville, brothers of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Wilson wore an aqua formal gown to which she pinned her corsage of white carnations and yellow roses.

An informal picnic at 4 p.m. was held at Van Buren Park where some 150 guests congratulated the newlyweds. Following her week-long honeymoon to Johnstown, Pa., the young couple took up residence at 14211 Lenmoore Rd., Belleville.

The bride expects to graduate from Belleville High School in 1980. Her husband attended Detroit Community College and is now with Hancock Industries in Taylor.

Registrations being accepted

Registration continues for fall classes at Washtenaw Community College through Sept. 4. A special evening registration period has been scheduled for Wednesday, Aug. 29 between 6:30 and 8:30 p.m. Classes for the term are scheduled to begin Sept. 5.

Time schedules describing the variety of classes offered by the College are available at the Registration and Admissions Center where counselors are also available for pre-registration conferences. Specific appointments, where desired, may be made by phoning the Counseling Center at 973-3464.

Tuition is to be paid for all classes in full at the time of registration. Master Charge or Visa will be accepted. Fees for in-district residents are $15 per credit hour. In-district senior citizens are invited to participate at no charge. Non-credit courses, varying in length from one session to those of 15 weeks are offered and tuition for these is determined by the subject content and length of the course. An extensive financial aid program is available through the College for those students carrying at least six hours credit and meeting other eligibility requirements. Questions regarding this should be directed to 973-3525.

The College also provides a day care facility for children 1½-5 years of age whose parents are attending classes or related activities at the College. Hours for the Children's Center are 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Fees for the Center are determined on a sliding scale which begins at 60 cents an hour. Specific information about the Children's Center is available by calling 973-3538.

Marriage announced

Mr. and Mrs. Ray A. Henry of Lauren Court, Belleville, announce the Aug. 7 marriage of their daughter, Diane Elizabeth, to Conrad S. Ziembra of Farmington Hills.

Honor attendants at the wedding were Michelle Sandoval and Daniel Ziembra. An afternoon reception was held at the Hillside Inn of Plymouth for relatives and close friends after which the newlyweds departed for a Canadian honeymoon. They are now at home to friends in Canton.

Five bands to appear at Polka Festival

The St. Aloysius Polka Festival will be held Sept. 1, 2 and 3 at 11280 Ozga Rd., Romulus. Five bands will appear at the Festival beginning with John Sadrack and his orchestra on Sept. 1 from 6 to 10 p.m.

The next afternoon from 1 to 5 p.m. Marshall Lackowski and his group will perform. They will be followed by Bruno Mikos and the Harmony Stars from Youngstown, Ohio from 6 to 10 p.m.

On Labor Day the Canadian Fiddletix from Toronto will play from 1 to 5 p.m. followed by Bob Earl and the All Stars from Toledo, Ohio from 5 to 10 p.m.

Admission for dancing in the entertainment tent is $2.50 per adult. Children under 14, accompanied by parents, may enter free of charge.

Another feature of the Festival will be chicken dinners on Sunday and spaghetti dinners on Labor Day, both served from 12 noon to 6 p.m. A variety of booths, games, rides, refreshments, bingo and a grand raffle will also be highlights of the 3-day event.

To travel to the Festival take I-94 to the Wayne Road exit, south on Wayne Road to Goddard Road. Turn right on Goddard Road and follow through town to Neville Road. Turn right on Neville to the church and Festival.

Fall bride-elect, Sheila Stabnau, is shower 'star'

On Sunday afternoon, Aug. 19, Karen Stabnau and Pearlene Stabnau were hostesses at a miscellaneous bridal shower honoring Sheila Stabnau who will be a September bride.

Thirty-five relatives and friends from Wayne, Ypsilanti, Birmingham and Belleville gathered on the lawn of the Craig Stabnau home on Graylock Street at two o'clock in the afternoon. Various shades of pink were used for decorations, along with fresh garden flowers from Sheila's grandparents, the William Graham's garden.

The bride to be and her mother, Elaine Stabnau, were also presented with special corsages, Sheila's of pink carnations and her mother's of white.

Door prizes were won by Thelma Summer, Mary Dorin, Sue Graham and Edna Horton.

The honored guest was assisted in opening her gifts by her sister, Suzanne Stabnau, who will be her maid of honor and by her bridesmaids, Nancy Summer, Judy Sayre and Karri Fry.

Refreshments of salads, desserts, Rolls, punch and coffee were served from a salad bar which was centered by a special floral arrangement of silk flowers which was later presented to the honoree. Sheila will become the bride of Bill Menish of Redondo Beach, Calif. at The First United Methodist Church in Belleville on Sept. 22.

DOUG BROWN MUSIC
9219 S. Wayne Rd., Romulus
941-8484

One of the better known stylistic composers was Johannes Brahms. He would mingle with the simple people of his native Hamburg, Germany, to learn their quaint customs, folk-songs, and dance rhythms. He would then use this learning experience and it would be reflected in his music. His choral works rank with Bach and Beethoven, while he is best known for his cantatas. The German people are particularly famous for their melodious songs. Some of them like, "O Tannenbaum", which was derived from the tune of "Maryland, my Maryland" are now so very famous in their American dress that we scarcely recognize them as German songs anymore.

When it comes to pianos and organs it makes sense to come directly to DOUG BROWN MUSIC, 9219 S. Wayne, Romulus, 941-8484. You'll find a large selection of different models in a wide price range. Come on by at your convenience and let us show you around our store. Master Charge and Visa honored.

Two birthdays observed at family outing

By Mrs. Joseph Spring
699-4021

On Saturday, Aug. 18, members of the Riggs family, Mr. and Mrs. Garry Kleeman and family from Wurtzburg, Germany; the Emerson Riggs family from Farmington; the Lloyd Riggs family, and Miss Ruth Renton, Alice Herkimer and daughter, Debbie, and the Robert Loria family from Lansing, motored to Pottsville where they enjoyed "snacks" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dewain Watson. Then it was on to "Turkeyville" for dinner where they celebrated the birthdays of Shelly Riggs Kleeman and Mary Ann Riggs Boschma, daughter of the Emerson Riggses.

The Kleemans, who have been spending the past four weeks with relatives, left for home last Thursday.

Mrs. S.J. Jozwiak and daughter, Carol, of Madison Heights were Sunday evening callers at the home of the former's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hatch of Church Street.

Mrs. B.P. Hopson of Belleville Road was a guest this past week of her son and wife, the Thornton Hopsons, at their summer home on Torch Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kidwell, son Jason and daughter Erin, of Ellen Drive and Mrs. Kidwell's mother, Mrs. Hugh Kellas of Margery Street, returned home last Wednesday following a week with relatives in the New England States.

Driving through Canada enroute, they stopped at Niagara Falls before arriving at Massachusetts where they were guests of cousins, Dr. and Mrs. Jacob Spungin at Auburn and Mrs. Estahelen Martin at Boston.

Among interesting places visited were various historical places in Boston, Watch Hill, Long Island, the House of Seven Gables and the Witches House in Salem. They also spent a day at Dover, Durham and Barrington, N.H. where they visited an old cemetery where their Revolutionary ancestors were buried and Hogback Mountain in Vermont. They returned home through Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Carla Ann is August arrival

Carla Ann is the name chosen by David and Theresa Stewart of 8966 Grover, Romulus, for their new daughter born Tuesday, Aug. 14, at Riverside Osteopathic Hospital in Trenton.

Weighing in at 7 lbs. - 1 oz., the newcomer made her debut at 4:06 p.m.

Her big sister, Christina Marie, also arrived on a Tuesday, at 2:06 p.m. and is now 22 months old.

The girls are the granddaughters of Clara Howard and Arthur Stewart, both of Romulus.

Sweets welcome baby boy

The birth of their first child, a son, James Donald II, has been announced by James and Michelle Sweet of Romulus.

The new heir, who arrived at Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti at 4:27 p.m. on Aug. 11, weighed 7 lbs. - 4 ozs. and measured 21 inches.

He is the first grandson of Geraldine Sweet of Trenton, Merry Laginess of Romulus and Bill Laginess of Southgate.

Guests last Thursday of Mrs. Lester Hall of Borgman Street were her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. William Miller and Shannon from Cincinnati, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Pfaff and family of Oak Harbor, Ohio were overnight guests on Friday of last week of Mrs. Pfaff's father, Jay Herkimer of East Huron River Drive. Four-year-old Christopher remained to spend the weekend with his grandfather.

The following Monday, Jay with his granddaughter, Mitzi Herkimer and his sister Kathrine Herkimer of Bedell Street, drove to Oak Harbor to take Christopher home.

Lynn Saunders and son, Jeffrey, from Clinton Township spent the weekend with Lynn's mother, Mrs. Clayton Saunders of Liberty Street.

Mrs. Eldon Maynard and Mrs. Harold Klaiss of River Rouge were guests last Tuesday of Mrs. Clayton Saunders.

Edna Florian of Liberty Street and friend, Shirley Endicott of Trenton, spent a couple of days recently at the home of Sue Loomis at Traverse City.

Julie and Michael McKelvey of Flushing have been guests of their grandparents, the Charles McKelveys of Bemis Road this past week.

Dale Nollf, youngest son of the Walter Nollfs of Edison Street, left Thursday, Aug. 17, for Lehigh Acres, Fla. near Ft. Myers, where he has accepted a teaching position in the school system. He will stay with his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fisher, at Port Charlotte until his wife, Laurel, can join him. She will have finished a Dietition Training Course at Saginaw area hospitals in September.

The 67th annual Herkimer family reunion was held Sunday, Aug. 19, at the United Methodist Church House in Carleton with 58 members present from Taylor, Trenton, Monroe, and Oak Harbor, Ohio. Those attending from Belleville were Jay Herkimer and his sister, Kathrine, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Herkimer, Scott and Mitzi, and Christopher Pfaff of Oak Harbor

After spending the past two months with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Potts of Wabash Street and other relatives, Steven Glenn left by plane last Thursday for his home at Pleasanton, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Mann of Wayne were Saturday evening guests of long-time friends, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clayton of Bedell Street.

James Goble of East Wabash Street was able to return home last Wednesday after having been a patient at Wayne County General Hospital for several days.

Mrs. Frances McAtee, George and Phillip of West Columbia Avenue and Ruth of Ann Arbor were last week Tuesday evening dinner guests of the Norman McAtees of New Boston in celebration of the 10th birthday of their daughter, Christine. Grandma Frances made a special "me" birthday cake for the occasion.

On Sunday, Aug. 19, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Florian of Liberty Street entertained members of the Everett-Marple Club. Past Matrons and Past Patrons of O.E.S. chapters in the year 1973-1974, at a hot dog and corn roast in their spacious yard. Twenty members were present

Mrs. Norman Miller of Second Street spent several days this past week at Ann Arbor with her daughter, Mrs. Aileen Mengel and family. The latter's son, Scott and her daughter, Carla, were home from Sanibel Island, Fla.

Mrs. Donald Zimmer and family of Charlotte, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Robson of Tyler Road, were guests last Monday of relatives, members of the Clare Voorheis family at Davisburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stevens of East Huron River Drive and daughter, Suzanne of Liberty Street, were guests last Sunday of Friends, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Sharpe at Runyan Lake near Fenton

Members of Belleville Assembly No. 49, Order of Rainbow for girls, attended a Grand Reception and dinner Sunday, Aug. 19, at Hillcrest Country club in Mt. Clemens honoring the Grand Worthy Advisor, Ruth Ann Kerr of Ferndale. Present were Mother Advisor, Rose Ann Welt, Roberta Welt and Ronda Claxton.

Others who attended were Roberta Pond, Denise Welt, Patricia Flanagan and Robert Welt.

Better Hurry
Only One Week Left.

The Bitter End.

We're desperate.
It's our last week, and we still haven't sold 206 cars yet.

Sales on our high-mileage low-price cars are going well. But we're getting a little nervous. We must sell out our entire stock, or we won't get the number of cars we want in September. It's going to be the Bitter End for us if that happens.

We must sell 206 cars.

So this is it. If you walk in that door, we're going to do everything but give you a car. That includes up to $1000 off selected models. Come in and find out what true desperation is. But come in soon. With a message like this, we're going to be mighty busy. And time is running out.

Schooltime: Preparing for 1979-80

It's begun. The exodus is underway as college students pack up and head for their respective campuses for another year of "hitting the books".

And for the parents of preschoolers through high schoolers, it's time for the annual back-to-school shopping spree ... that time of the year when worn-out, too small clothing — better known as last year's leftovers — are traded in on new shoes, slacks, shirts, boots, coats and other assorted school needs.

But with inflation biting into the consumer's wallet more and more these days, there is a concern that shoppers will change their ways.

Will parents skip separate wardrobes, one for school and one for play, opting instead for a mixture of blue jeans and T-shirts with a dash of special occasion clothes?

Will back to school mean making do with last year's lunch box?

And what about the children? Are they looking forward to the new school year? Are they ready to hang up their baseball gloves and pack up their summer playthings in exchange for schoolbooks and homeworks?

Then again, what will mothers be putting in those lunch boxes that are nutritional sound, but easy on a sorely stretched budget?

With back to school just around the corner, Associated Newspapers is taking a look at how parents and children alike are preparing for the 1979-80 school year.

We know you'll find this people-oriented section both entertaining and informative. We planned it that way.

Ouch!

Larry Stark wanted immunization time to be a family affair, insisting his brother Patrick join in on the act. But after the immunization shot was given, he admitted it wasn't that bad of an experience. He let out the typical yelp, but it wasn't for certain whether the scream was the result of the shot, or the fear of its consequences.—Photo by ANP Chief Photographer Lothar Konietzko.

Ouch!

Districts crack down on 'shotless' students

By CARRIE YOUNG
ANP Staff Writer

It's free, if you utilize the facilities at the Wayne County Health Department offices. Or if parents prefer they can always go to their family doctor.

Either way, though, parents must have their children immunized before starting the new school year.

That's the official word of both the state and country health departments, and this year to be more strictly enforced by the school districts than ever before.

In part, the reason for the "crack down" by the government and school agencies is the result of a rash of measles occurrences in the past few years.

The measles have been hitting high school-aged students, said Janice Arsenault, a registered nurse for public health department.

Mrs. Arsenault said there have been "quite a few" cases where high school-aged students have come down with the measles, and in the majority of those cases the students had received their vaccinations before the age of 13 months.

"We're especially asking 'those' persons to return to us for their vaccination," she said, "because we have been finding that they are the ones that seem to be getting the measles."

Apparently, in the early 1960s the vaccination doses given were not as effective as should have been.

The students having had their shots after the age of 13 months have not had recurrences of measles in their teens, she said.

"Under the age of 13 months the cases really have been coming in, but after it dropped dramatically," she said.

School officials interviewed in the Plymouth-Canton, Wayne-Westland, Romulus and Van Buren school districts said there will be an emphasis on requiring new residents to the communities to have their school-aged children vaccinated.

Kindergarten age children also will be of prime importance to school officials, who are hoping to start the student on the right immunization track.

Also provided at the health clinic, located on Merriman Road on the grounds of the Wayne County General Hospital, is free vision and hearing testing, according to Mrs. Arsenault.

...But students say

Larry Stark, 8, said he would have rather had the measles than to have had to be given an immunization shot.

But Larry said that prior to the shot having been given by Janice Arsenault, a registered nurse at the Wayne County Health Department.

After the shot was given, Stark mused that it actually hadn't been that terrible of an ordeal. He lived.

student at North Junior High School in the Belleville area.

Because Michelle could not find her medical records verifying she had been immunized at an earlier date, she was required by school officials to return for her booster shot.

School officials are clamping down on the so-called "slipped by" students who apparently haven't had

Opening day:

Districts prepare for 1979-80's start

By MAUREEN CAMPS
ANP Staff Writer

After every summer, there comes a fall, and every school-age youngster knows what that means.

School days are scheduled to begin for Western Wayne County students within the next two weeks.

Community Schools, where students either go to year-round school with intermittent vacations, or follow a 9-month calendar.

The "traditional" school year in Plymouth-Canton begins Aug. 29, according to Florence Beier, community relations director. Students who ride buses will be getting a post card in the mail with information about their bus stop and time, but those times will be much the same as last year.

Students attending Eriksson, Field, Gallimore, Hulsing, Isbister or and Miller elementary schools, or Pioneer Middle School, will be on one of four year-round scheduling tracks.

The new school year for Track A, B, and C youngsters will begin Aug. 27, Mrs. Beier said. On that day, students should report 1½ hours later than normal starting time because a teachers' meeting is scheduled that morning. Buses will arrive 1½ hours later, too, for those who ride. From then on, starting times will be the same as last year, and students who do ride buses will get post cards with schedules on them.

Track D begins the 1979-80 school year on Sept. 17, for a full day of classes.

Meanwhile, Van Buren Schools will hold registration for students on Sept. 4 for approximately two hours.

On that day, high school students should report at 7:25 a.m., and will be dismissed at 9:31 a.m. Junior high school students will begin school that day at 8:20 until 10:15 a.m. Students who attend Quirk School will be in class that day from 8:20 to 10:15 a.m., and students at Tyler from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m. West Willow students should be at school from 8:15 to 10:15 a.m. Students attending other elementary schools will be in school that day from 9:10 to 11 a.m. Buses will be running that day, as well as the full school days that begin Sept. 5.

Blue jeans: Top pick for school

By KAY DeBORD
ANP Staff Writer

What are the youngsters wearing back to school?

According to many mothers, it will be the favorite apparel of both mothers and students, both boys and girls — jeans and knit tops.

Tennis or jogging shoes top the list of preferences for the early days of school before the advent of winter weather, the preference on the part of the youngsters and acceded to by budget-conscious mothers.

However, with the coming of bad weather, many young people opt for leather footwear with boots preferred by the boys.

With the dialing down of classroom thermostats, in keeping with the energy crisis, as the weather gets colder, many shoppers are including sleeveless sweaters to be worn over shirts in the wardrobes of their school-agers.

Of regular button shirts, heading the popularity list are plaids, and wise mothers are selecting light flannels for classroom wear for both boys and jean-clad girls.

Bib overalls are being repeated on the youth fashion list for another school year, and many girls alternate with fancier and dressier slacks, worn with a variety of sweaters.

Shopping in Wayne with her nursery schooler son, Todd, 4, Jolene Freeman of Westland said she usually bought colored jeans for her son to wear to nursery school.

"They're good with flannel shirts or with knit tops and give some variety," said Mrs. Freeman, who was one of several shoppers who found prices on children's clothing "outrageous."

Price and quality was also a concern of Mrs. Carole Smith of Wayne, who has two school-age sons, Kurt and Kent, with clothing needs to be met before school starts.

"I already bought winter coats when they were on sale, but there are still jeans and shirts to get, and the boys grow out of them faster than I can get them," Mrs. Smith said.

"I always stick to brand names, but when you see the quality and the way they are made, it makes you upset at the prices that are charged," she added.

Another Wayneite, Mrs. Delphine Marshall, also has two sons to clothe for school.

"I buy shirts, mainly knits," Mrs. Marshall said, "And the boys prefer jeans for school." She was accompanied on her shopping trip by son Kenny, 14.

Mrs. Marshall also found prices high "but, then everything is," she commented. Mrs. Marshall said she tries to take advantage of summer sales, and she also tries to do most of her shopping in local (Wayne) stores.

Donna and Robert Karp of Belleville also shop high "but, then everything is," she commented. Mrs. Marshall said she tries to take advantage of summer sales, and she also tries to do most of her shopping in local (Wayne) stores.

Donna and Robert Karp of Belleville also shop for jeans for their school-agers, preferring the levi-type of "super" denims.

"I buy as I see what I need," according to Ms. Teresa Hubbard of Romulus. "And I don't wait for sales." Her daughter, Donyale, 7, wears pants and knit tops for school and likes a variety.

Helen Drerup of Westland, mother of Julie, 9, and Chris, 5, also buys knit tops for her children, her selection made to go with durable slacks or jeans. This shopping trip was to buy school shoes, rubber-soled leather shoes for school wear. The youngsters also wear tennis shoes during the warmer days, according to Mrs. Drerup, who is another lamenting the rapid rise of clothing prices.

Sally Hardt of Romulus is another shopper who finds it preferable to stick to brand name articles for Gary, 6, and Renee, 9. "I buy slacks and knits for school," she said, "But, there are jeans for harder wear."

Janet MacFalda of Wayne has three in school, but she has some of her shopping problems solved because her youngsters, Anne, 8½; Elaine, 7 and Paul, 5½, attend parochial school and wear uniforms. But she also buys slacks and shirts for her trio and tries to take advantage of sales, especially in local stores "because it's more convenient."

Another who finds the prices for children's clothing "outrageous" is Mrs. Cecile Thompson of Dearborn Heights, in Wayne shopping for her two sons and a daughter. Scott, almost 9, and Kevin, 7, shopping with their mother were emphatic about their preference for jeans for school wear, along with knit tops.

"I try to buy what they like to wear, within reason," Mrs. Thompson said.

Students will be mailed information on bus routes, or can have questions answered by calling 699-5100. New students in the Van Buren District may register now at high school and junior high school levels, and in elementary schools. All buildings will be closed on Aug. 31.

Romulus Community Schools students will return to school on Sept. 5, according to director of personnel Terrel LeCesne, but that's all the information he has on the school calendar so far.

School calendar is a negotiable item with the teachers' union, and details of the contract still are to be negotiated. The current contract expires Aug. 31, LeCesne said. The negotiators had not decided by Friday whether Sept. 5 will be a full or half day, or time schedules. Details should be worked out by next week.

Students attending the Huron School District will have their first full day of classes on Sept. 5. High school and junior high school starting time is 8 a.m., and elementary students begin at 8:55 a.m. Any students who are new to the district should register at their local school anytime from 7:30 a.m. until 3a;30 p.m. during the week of Aug. 27.

In the Inkster School District, starting day for students also is Sept. 5, and the youngsters should come ready to spend the full day in classes. Elementary school days begin at 9 a.m., junior high schools and senior high schools at 8:30 a.m.

Also reporting to class Sept. 5 for a full day of school will be students in the Westwood School District. At the high school, students should report at 7:55 a.m., at the junior high at 8:25 a.m., and in the elementary schools at 8:50 a.m.

New students in the Westwood district should register at their school prior to the first day of class.

Cherry Hill School district students will have received notice of their starting dates in the mail by now, outlining the appropriate schedules.

Students in grades 10, 11 and 12 will be pre-registering in the high school cafeteria next week according to the schedule mailed to students.

Then on Sept. 4, all students grades 8 through 12 will report to their homeroom teachers for registration from 1 to 3 p.m. There is no school Sept. 5, then on Sept. 6 students in grades 10, 11 and 12 will report to school from 8 to 11:10 a.m.

The eighth and ninth graders should report to school from 11:50 a.m. until 3 p.m. that day.

Sept. 7 will be the first full day of classes for junior and senior high schoolers, beginning at 8 a.m.

Students in grades 1 through 7 will register at their respective schools Sept. 4 at designated half-hour time periods according to the alphabet, published in the newsletter. Kindergarten students are being informed by mail when to register, and students new in the district should register at the Board of Education Office, 28500 Avondale, Inkster.

There will be no school for elementary students Sept. 5, then the first full day of classes will be Sept. 6, with kindergarten classes meeting only in the afternoon that day.

Wayne-Westland schools will open following Labor Day, but the dates, times and details were still being ironed out at press time Friday. The district does have a tentative agreement with teachers on a new 3-year contract.

Glenn Sharp, 5, will not have to have a tetanus shot for 10 years. Glenn stood the few necessary moments of tightening the old leg muscles for a shot last week at the county health department, and now does not have to return for 10 years.

Although Glenn let out the biggest "Ouch-h-h-h" of the day, he found the oral polio dose to be finger-lickin' good.

Oral polio doses are usually given at the time of school entry, said Mrs. Arsenault, urging parents that there still is time to be immunized before the school year begins.

Pack nutrition into lunches

Now that the children are about to head back to school, it's time to start thinking about filling their lunch boxes with new and exciting taste treats. Since health foods are all the rage, why not try a new, nutritious approach to snacking.

Cookies are what children devour the fastest, but the most popular ones are all taste and little nutrition. Here are some easy-to-bake recipes that use Wheatena cereal, blend sweet tastes with the nutrients active children need. And the toasted whole wheat hot cereal enriches these cookies with wheat germ and fiber.

So dress up your brood's back-to-school lunch boxes with:

RAISIN NUT COOKIES

1 cup butter or margarine

3 cups sifted all-purpose flour

1 teaspoon baking powder

¼ teaspoon salt

½ cup Wheatena cereal, uncooked

Cream butter and sugar until light. Add one egg at a time, blending well after each addition. Sift flour, baking soda, salt and cinnamon together, add Wheatena. Add dry ingredients to creamed mixture and blend well. Stir in raisins, nuts and coconut. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto lightly greased cookie sheet. Bake in pre-heated 350-degree oven for 13 to 15 minutes, or until tests done. Remove from oven and place on rack to cool. Yields 6 dozen.

CHOCOLATE- ALMOND PUMPKIN COOKIES

½ cup butter or margarine

1 cup cooked pumpkin

1 teaspoon vanilla

1 teaspoon baking powder

1 teaspoon soda

1 teaspoon nutmeg

or 2 teaspoons pumpkin pie spice

1 cup chocolate chips

Cream together butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in egg, pumpkin and vanilla. Mix flour, baking powder, soda, salt and spices. Add to creamed mixture and mix well. Add almonds and chocolate chips; with heavy spoon mix thoroughly. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto a well-greased cookie sheet. Bake at 350 degrees 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove from cookie sheet while still warm and cool on rack. Makes about 6 dozen cookies.

An after-school or Saturday morning baking session might be the perfect time for the kids to put together Magic Almond-Chocolate Bars. There's no actual mixing, just layering of ingredients in a pan. The baked result is crisp and crunchy with chopped almonds, sweet and rich with chocolate.
